Arabs, Hostages Given Passage To United States

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The Middle East News Agency said today the Sudanese government has agreed to provide a plane to fly Arab guerrillas and their hostages to the United States from Khartoum.

The Egyptian agency said in its dispatch from Khartoum that the guerrillas, holding the U.S. ambassador and four other diplomats, also demanded that two members of Sudan's Cabinet go with them on the flight to the United States. This was refused, the agency reported.

The dispatch was filed about an hour after the deadline set by the guerrillas, members of the Palestinian Black September organization, for the execution of their hostages if their demands were not met.

There was no immediate explanation why the guerrillas wanted to come to the United States.

A band of Black September terrorists stormed the Saudi embassy during a reception Thursday night for the departing U.S. charge d'affaires, Curtis G. Moore.

The guerrillas held Moore, U.S. Ambassador Cleo A. Noel Jr., Jordanian charge Adly el Nasser, Belgian charge Guy Eid and the Saudi ambassador, his wife and children in the embassy. Later they released the woman and children.

American sources said Ambassador

Noel was shot in the ankle during the takeover and wounded superficially, and the Belgian had a bullet wound in the leg. They said doctors were allowed to attend them and a wounded night watchman.

Two Sudanese government representatives were allowed into the embassy this morning to negotiate with the guerrillas and reported all five hostages "in good health." They said, however, that the guerrillas had planted explosives in several parts of the embassy.

The guerrillas at first demanded the release of:

—Sirhan Sirhan, the Jordanian immigrant to the United States serving a life term in California for assassinating Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

—Palestinian leader Abu Daoud and 16 colleagues held in Jordan. Abu Daoud is a code name for a member of the high command of Al Fatah, the largest Palestinian organization.

—Col. Rafei Hindawi, accused of masterminding a plot against King Hussein of Jordan last year, and a Palestinian named Mahmoud al Khalil.

—All military and women prisoners in Jordan.

—All Palestinian women held in Israeli prisons.

—Members of the Baader-Meinhof Gang of anarchists in West Germany.

POW Obstacle Seen

SAIGON (AP) — The North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong announced today that they will release 136 American prisoners and six foreigners Sunday at Hanoi's Gia Lam airport. But later a Communist spokesman said an impasse had developed over Vietnamese exchanges and threatened to block the release of 30 U.S. POWs captured in South Vietnam.

Also affected are two Germans and two Filipinos on the Viet Cong list of 34 handed to the U.S. delegation to the Joint Military Commission today.

The spokesman indicated the dispute between the Saigon government and the Viet Cong would not affect the release of 106 American servicemen and two Thais by North Vietnam.

"From the point of view of the Provisional Revolutionary Government, the release of POWs is blocked by this issue," the spokesman said. He said this includes American and other foreign prisoners of the Viet Cong as well as Vietnamese.

He added that efforts were being made to resolve the dispute.

U.S. spokesmen were not immediately available for comment.

A dispute over the exchange of Vietnamese prisoners delayed the release of the first American POWs handed over by the Viet Cong on Feb. 12. Then the delay lasted 12 hours, and the men were delivered at dusk instead of early in the morning.

Earlier today, Bui Tin, the chief spokesman for the North Vietnamese delegation, said the transfer of POWs in Hanoi would begin Sunday at 11 a.m., Saigon time, or 10 p.m. EST Saturday.

The Communist delegations in Saigon delivered to U.S. representatives the names of those to be freed. The names were flashed to Washington for notification of the families. Some had waited nearly seven years.

Missing from the Viet Cong list were Maj. Floyd James Thompson, a prisoner longer than any serviceman in U.S. history, and Philip Manhard, a 52-year-old State Department official who is the highest ranking U.S. civilian still in captivity. Although both were captured in South Vietnam, U.S. officials say they now are held in North Vietnam.

Thompson, now 39, was captured on March 26, 1964, near the demilitarized zone while he was an adviser to a South Vietnamese unit. Manhard was taken prisoner on Jan. 31, 1968, at the start of the Tet offensive in Hue.

The Americans captured in South Vietnam include 27 servicemen and three civilians.

Explaining the Hanoi release point, the Viet Cong spokesman said, "The Provisional Revolutionary Government has decided that, to insure security, we were required to bring them to Gia Lam."

He did not elaborate. The first release of American prisoners by the Viet Cong was at Loc Ninh, 75 miles north of Saigon.

Paris Accord Officially Signed

PARIS (AP) — Twelve governments of East and West gave the Vietnam peace settlement the seal of world approval today.

The act was performed in a ceremonial signing by the foreign ministers of the Big Five powers, the contending regimes in Vietnam and the four countries supervising the peace.

A week of hectic diplomacy — mainly between the United States and North Vietnam — had preceded agreement on a four-page declaration binding outsiders to quit meddling in the affairs of all Indochina.

It also set up a system to deal with violations of the peace agreements.

Both sides made concessions at the five-day conference to reach unanimous agreement on the declaration. Canada, South Vietnam and Britain expressed disappointment that more effective measures were not adopted.

Rogers and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko expressed satisfaction with the declaration. North Vietnamese Foreign Minister Nguyen Duy Trinh and the Viet Cong foreign minister, Mrs. Nguyen Thi Binh, were elated.

The nine-point declaration was initiated yesterday by representatives of the United States, Britain, France, China, the Soviet Union, North and South Vietnam, the Provisional Revolutionary Government and the four members of the International Cease-fire Commission—Canada.

The declaration provides that the former belligerents or the members of the control commission can circulate reports on cease-fire violations to the signers of the declaration and to Waldheim. The declaration did not specify what action a future conference might take.

For the United States, the importance of the declaration lay in linking the Soviet Union and Communist China with the peace settlement. American officials believed that the two Communist superpowers' support could act as a decisive restraint on Hanoi.

Ireland Government Shift Follows General Election

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Prime Minister Jack Lynch prepared today to hand over Ireland's government to Liam Cosgrave, 52-year-old leader of a left-of-center coalition.

With 10 seats in the Dail still undecided, Cosgrave's Fine Gael-Irish Party—and the allied Labor Party had won 68 seats to 64 for Lynch's Fianna Fail—Soldiers of Destiny. Two independents also had been elected.

Cosgrave's coalition looked certain to take at least 72 seats, or half the Dail membership. Ireland is used to governments with only a slender hold on power, since its system of proportional representation makes large majorities rare. But many commentators doubted the new government would survive long. Some politicians were already preparing for another election.

Cosgrave was expected to name Brendan Corish, leader of the Laborites, his deputy premier.

The voting Thursday ended 16 years in office for Fianna Fail. Lynch, while declining to concede formally until the last vote was counted, admitted that his forces had no hope of a majority in the lower house of parliament.

Cosgrave, with more than 30 years in the Dail, is a former foreign minister. Lynch's own foreign minister, Brian Lenihan, was one of the chief casualties of Fianna Fail's decline.

Lynch blamed the loss of key seats on "bad luck—a matter of a few votes here and there."

But it was clear his party suffered from the absence of front-bench talent to support his own personal appeal as a former sports hero. He fired key men in his administration who were accused in 1970, and later acquitted, of diverting government money to buy arms for the guerrillas of the Irish Republican Army in Northern Ireland.

Without them, Lynch's government lacked able and experienced men in the key 45-55 age bracket. Another factor was the poor television showing of some ministers against intellectuals from the coalition's front bench.

Mrs. Meir Given Gala By Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon provided a gala evening at the White House for visiting Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir, with lavish praise for the Jewish leader who "had her roots in our country."

Nixon predicted that Milwaukee-raised Mrs. Meir would "play a great role" in building peace in the Middle East. He said achieving that peace would not be "easy ... soon or instant."

But he suggested that the "enlightened, courageous and strong" leadership that built an independent Israel and has defended it "has the genius" to provide real peace and security in that area.

In a campaign toast, the President said the 120 guests at Thursday night's steak dinner was made up of Mrs. Meir's friends and admirers.

The gathering included members of the Cabinet, congressmen, big Nixon campaign contributors. The guests ranged from the chairman of the United Jewish Appeal, Paul Zuckerman of Livonia, Mich., to John Connally of Texas, who jokingly sidestepped reporters' queries about his future political plans.

Even 89-year-old Alice Longworth, daughter of President Theodore Roosevelt, turned out, along with Nixon's newly named woman ambassador to Luxembourg, Mrs. George Farkas of New York City.

McGovern said the 15 Indian leaders who spoke with the senators "were very disturbed about the fire-bombing ... but it underscores the danger that exists here."

McGovern said the Indians "gave every indication that they expected to face charges."

The senator said they advised the Indians to meet with Department of Justice officials, who have surrounded the tiny hamlet since Wednesday morning, to discuss an end to the armed conflict.

There was no repetition Thursday of the sporadic gunfire in the village Wednesday as the Indians tried to keep federal lawmen at a distance.

It was at Wounded Knee Creek in 1890 that 146 Sioux men, women and children were killed by troops of the 7th U.S. Cavalry in the last major incident in conflicts between Indians and whites.

The senators and the dozen representatives of the Indians met between a barricade of Indian guards and another picket line established a few miles away by federal marshals. They met once in an open pasture and later, during the cold Great Plains night, in what McGovern described as a "hastily erected tepee."

"The main thing was that we got assurances that the hostages were free to leave," McGovern told newsmen gathered at the Bureau of Indian Affairs building in Pine Ridge, a small Indian settlement several miles southwest of Wounded Knee.

"One man, Wilbur Rigert, told me he's free but his house is being used as WOUNDED KNEE, S.D. (AP) — Sen. George S. McGovern said early today that a negotiating session with representatives of the 200 Indians who had taken over this historic hamlet "ended on a jarring note" when the militants were informed that the home of one of their leaders was fire-bombed while the parley was under way.

Word of the reported firebombing "stirred them up pretty much," said Sen. James Abourezk, D-S.D., who was also at the negotiating session.

The senators said the situation before dawn was very tense.

The new tension flared several hours after the militants had released 11 hostages they had held since taking over the village late Tuesday.

The 11 who were freed declined to leave the village, preferring to remain in their hometown.

McGovern, also a South Dakota Democrat, said the report of the fire-bombing of the home of Aaron Desersas in nearby Pine Ridge became known as the meeting drew to a close.

Desersas is national communications director for the American Indian Movement (AIM), whose members were prominent in the takeover here. Pine Ridge is about 15 miles southwest of Wounded Knee.

Rain, Fog Are Reported

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain, drizzle and fog settled over the northern half of the nation today from the Rockies to New England.

Most other places had fair weather and moderate to warm temperatures. Scattered showers covered the northern Rockies and the northern and central plateau.

Dense ground fog reduced visibility to near zero from the northern and central Plains to the upper Great Lakes region. Travelers advisories were issued for central and eastern Iowa and parts of the upper Great Lakes.

Rain and drizzle dampened areas from the lower and middle Mississippi valley across the lower Great Lakes to northern New England, where light snow dusted some sections.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 19 at Houlton, Maine, to 70 at Miami, Fla.

End To Beef Quota Law May Come Before Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sky-rocketing food costs, particularly for meat, may cause a new consumer push in Congress for repeal of a 1964 import-quota law which critics say threatens American hamburger-eaters.

President Nixon suspended meat-import quotas in 1972 and again this year so that Australia and other countries could ship more low-grade beef into U.S. markets. It is used mostly by meat processors and carry-out-food chains.

Although beef imports rose 20 per cent in 1972 and are expected to climb an additional 7.5 per cent this year, Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal, D-N.Y., says the law hangs as a standby sword over consumers and that it could be dropped by Nixon any time he sees fit.

"I don't trust the President on anything, and certainly not on this," Rosenthal told a reporter. "Beyond that, we don't keep laws that we don't need on the books."

Rosenthal has introduced a bill to repeal the 1964 meat-import-quota law and says rising public discontent over meat prices may help bring it to attention of Congress.

"There is a move today, a consumer revolution, for a boycott of meat," Rosenthal said. "Those who want to hold the line on quotas are making the biggest mistake of their lives."

Beef consumption has doubled in the past generation and supermarket demands appear to be snowballing, despite Rosenthal's contention that consumers may be rebelling over prices.

The 1964 quota law sets up a formula limiting imports according to U.S. domestic beef production. In recent years, those imports have been running at an equivalent level of about 6 or 7 per cent of what American cattle-producers turn out.

Rosenthal contends that U.S. consumer demand for beef is so large—and will remain that way—that American cattlemen cannot keep up with the supermarket orders, at least not at prices average families should pay.

The price situation was punctuated this week by an Agriculture Department report showing that retail beef cost an average of more than $1.22 per pound, up almost 10 per cent in a year. Cattle prices set record peaks last month, indicating that the meat-price spiral may be around for some time. Meat prices led the way in January's 2.5-per-cent food-price increase, the largest on record.

But the cattle industry, vigorously opposing any move to repeal the 1964 law, says ranchers are enlarging breeding herds and that more beef is coming to market. The growth must be gradual so that prices cattle producers get—an incentive for expansion—will not break down, spokesmen say.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to respond uncertainly today to the dollar crisis abroad as prices fluctuated for the second straight session.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .15 to 949.80 after plummeting more than 10 points an hour earlier.

Declines still overpowered advances, however, and held a 3-to-1 lead in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,400 common stocks was down .13 to 59.48.

On the American Stock Exchange, declines also held a wide lead over advances, and the price-change index had dipped .05 to 24.64.

Brokers attributed the Dow's 5.42-point decline Thursday and its confusing performance today to Wall Street's jitters about the shaky international monetary situation.

Defector's Death Ruled Accidental

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Sergei Kourdakov, 21, a Soviet defector, died accidentally while handling a pistol, a coroner's jury here has ruled.

The jury returned the verdict Thursday after about two hours of deliberations.

Coroner William Hill had ordered a recess in the inquest last week when Rep. Earl F. Landgrebe, R-Ind., telephoned to say Kourdakov's death "was something other than what we've been told."

The former Russian Submarine officer had been a speaker for the Underground Evangelism of Glendale, Calif., before his death.

Affidavits provided by Landgrebe said two women who had attended a service sponsored by the Glendale group reported hearing the Rev. Kenneth Baughman of Auburn, Ind., say Kourdakov had been assassinated.

However, officers said they contacted Baughman who denied that he had implied the death was an assassination.

Ann Johnson, 17, had told jurors Kourdakov died of an accidental wound while handling a pistol her father had given him for protection. Kourdakov was found fatally shot in the head at a resort cabin near here on Jan. 1.

Officer Hurt In Ireland

BELFAST (AP) — Three teenagers, including a girl of about 13, wounded a policeman today in a shootout in Belfast after they tried to hijack his car.

Police said the girl and two youths of about 15 jumped in front of the policeman's car as he was driving to work. He tried to arrest them, but they opened fire as he got out.

The policeman, hit in the face and arm, fired back and his youthful attackers fled. The policeman's wounds were reported not serious.

British troops claimed to have captured a commander of the outlawed Irish Republican Army in a series of early-morning sweeps in Roman Catholic strongholds in Belfast.

The raids came after an upsurge of gunfire and bombings Thursday in which two persons were killed, raising the confirmed death toll in the Northern Ireland capital to 56 this year.

Lima Woman Learns Spouse To Be Freed By Viet Cong

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Bubblin' with excitement, Mrs. Donat J. Gouin said she learned about 1 a.m. today that her Army sergeant husband is to be released by the Viet Cong.

"There wasn't much more sleep last night after that call," she said. "I'm very happy and relieved."

She said her husband, who is listed as from Providence, R.I., actually is from Central Falls, R.I. and a 25-year Army Signal Corps veteran.

Gouin was captured in February, 1968, and "I've had no contact, no word at all since then," his wife said. She said it had been confirmed soon after his capture that he was a war prisoner.

The Gouins were married in January, 1958 and they have three children, Elizabeth, 14, Barbara, 12, and Carl, 7.

Old Train Being Used At Wedding

BOSTON (AP) — A Sherborn family has paid $14,500 to bring a steam locomotive and three old passenger cars from Vermont to Boston to carry guests to their daughter's wedding reception this weekend.

The 59-year-old coal burner chugged and puffed into North Station Thursday after a two-day, 150-mile trip from a train museum in Bellows Falls, Vt.

"It will really save time, you know," said Faith Tiberio, mother of the bride. "We can have the receiving line and hors d'oeuvres on the train on the way to the reception."

The big, black engine and three old fashioned cars will be taken to the Boston suburb of Weston and then carry 250 guests from Weston to Sudbury, the next town. There the guests will get off and board buses for the rest of the trip to a Framingham hotel.

The bride, 23-year-old Faith Phillips Tiberio, will marry Robert Todisco, 30, of Boston, in a traditional ceremony.

Most of the $14,500 price of running the train from Vermont to Boston went for the premium of a $10 million liability insurance policy. The rest was for a 10-man crew and the fee charged by the Boston & Maine Railroad for use of its tracks.

Sleepy Driver's Nose Is Broken

Highway Patrol investigated an accident which injured Danny Thomas Griffiths, 25, of Jackson.

Griffiths was headed west on Route 316 when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel as he approached the Scioto River bridge. The car went off the roadway to the left, struck a guard post and went down the embankment.

Griffiths was taken to Berger Hospital's emergency room and was treated for multiple lacerations, abrasions, and contusions. He also suffered a fractured nose.

County Recorder Lists Report

"They learned the good news as soon as they got up today," the mother said. "They have gone to school but I don't know if they will learn much today. They were very excited."

"I had given up hope he would be released this time," Mrs. Gouin said. "I didn't think his name would be on this group and I thought I would have to wait again. Now everything is great."

Mrs. Gouin said she has no idea of her husband's health or when or where he will be returned to this country.

Military officials indicated he would go to Ft. Knox, Ky.

"I will just stay here until they tell us when and where he is going and we can get the family back together."

Mrs. Gouin is from Lima and details of how she met and married her husband "is just too much to go into right now," she said.

She said she has not worked during his absence, but "just stayed home and took care of the children."

Denver Meade, Barry Black Named On Grand Jury List

Charges against 11 men are being considered today by the January term grand jury, meeting in its second session.

Three of the charges will be considered for indictment secretly. These cases will not be published or announced until the suspects are taken into custody should the grand jury bring true bills against the defendants.

Those remaining include Denver Eugene Meade, against whom the sheriff has filed two charges, both of murder.

Meade is accused of shooting a Commercial Point woman and her son, Charlotte Ann and John Van Sickle.

Also to be considered this time are the charges of producing marijuana without a license and malicious entry filed against Barry Stuart Black, an 18-year-old from the Canal Winchester area.

Other indictments being sought by the prosecutor, Richard Gerhardt, are:

Henry M. Oliver and Larry Stanley,

breaking and entering, two counts each; Ronald Lee McCreery Jr. and Kenneth Lee Ohrt, breaking and entering and grand larceny; Donovan K. McKnight, breaking and entering and possession of burglar's tools; Paul Van Gundy, non-support.

Jury members are: Merle E. Swank, Carolyn H. McCoy, Florence Kempton, Anna Belle Lake, Roger H. May, Rosemary Ankrom, James Peter McCoy, Edna Smith, Elvin R. Rowland, Martha Reid, Norman McKnight, Rinda White, Irene M. Driesbach, David S. Craven and Charles N. Smith. Smith replaces Ruth M. Conley who served at the jury's first session in January.

Marijuana Charge Is Reduced

A second offense of possession of marijuana was reduced to a misdemeanor for Mike Willoughby.

The young Circleville man had been arrested on possession charges once and was later stopped and a small amount of marijuana found in his possession. In Ohio, the second offense is a felony.

However, during Willoughby's trial Thursday, the county prosecutor recommended dismissing the second count charge and asked that the case be considered as a misdemeanor.

For this, Judge Ammer imposed a $1,000 fine and a year jail sentence, but suspended all but $100 of the fine and seven days of the jail term. Willoughby was made a probationer with the court for 18 months.

Bond Not Reduced For Mango

Michael Earl Mango's plea for a reduction in the $75,000 bond for a first degree murder charge was refused Thursday by Judge William Ammer.

The size of the bond prevents Mango from raising sufficient cash or property to allow his release from the county jail before his trial, claims Mango's attorney, Paul Cassidy of Columbus.

Judge Ammer advised that he would not consider a reduction in the amount because of the severity of the charge. Mango is accused of murdering the child of a Williamsport woman who later became his wife.

Cassidy indicated earlier that if his plea for reduction was ignored in the local court, he would seek a ruling on the matter from the 4th District Appeals Court.

The trial is scheduled on the court docket for April 23.

HERE COMES A SPECIAL

Your writer is now in South India preaching the Gospel to multitudes of eager-hearted listeners. Have been speaking in some of the very largest Churches of England found in India. As many as twelve hundred or more present in a single service. Many calls which cannot be accepted. Right now in some union services conducted in a part of a dry river bed, under temporary sheds constructed with bamboo, and coconut leaves. Spoke three times yesterday to a total of about seven thousand. This afternoon to a group of about 4,000 in closing service. To young readers let me say, if I had ten thousand lives to live, after knowing my Christ these fifty-one years, I am prepared to say that I would want everyone to be surrendered to Him, and wholly surrendered, and to His perfect will. — Dear Christian friend, please pray for 400,000 villages of India yet without the Gospel. Our basic goal this year for India is to add to our stock of literature to the extend of 300,000 Gospels, and 3,000 Testaments. (Tracts and booklets in addition). $10.00 will purchase about 1,000 Gospels, or approximately 40 cloth bound Testaments. Have about a month yet in India.

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued to respond uncertainly today to the dollar crisis abroad as prices fluctuated for the second straight session.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up .15 to 949.80 after plummeting more than 10 points an hour earlier.

Declines still overpowered advances, however, and held a 3-to-1 lead in fairly active trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The broad-based NYSE index of some 1,400 common stocks was down .13 to 59.48.

On the American Stock Exchange, declines also held a wide lead over advances, and the price-change index had dipped .05 to 24.64.

Brokers attributed the Dow's 5.42-point decline Thursday and its confusing performance today to Wall Street's jitters about the shaky international monetary situation.

father left," Mrs. Gouin said, "so he only remembers his father from pictures and talk."

"They learned the good news as soon as they got up today," the mother said. "They have gone to school but I don't know if they will learn much today. They were very excited."

"I had given up hope he would be released this time," Mrs. Gouin said. "I didn't think his name would be on this group and I thought I would have to wait again. Now everything is great."

Mrs. Gouin said she has no idea of her husband's health or when or where he will be returned to this country.

Military officials indicated he would go to Ft. Knox, Ky.

"I will just stay here until they tell us when and where he is going and we can get the family back together."

Mrs. Gouin is from Lima and details of how she met and married her husband "is just too much to go into right now," she said.

She said she has not worked during his absence, but "just stayed home and took care of the children."

MY MINUTE MESSAGE

HERE COMES A SPECIAL

Your writer is now in South India preaching the Gospel to multitudes of eager-hearted listeners. Have been speaking in some of the very largest Churches of England found in India. As many as twelve hundred or more present in a single service. Many calls which cannot be accepted. Right now in some union services conducted in a part of a dry river bed, under temporary shed constructed with bamboo, and coconut leaves. Spoke three times yesterday to a total of about seven thousand. This afternoon to a group of about 4,000 in closing service. To young readers let me say, if I had ten thousand lives to live, after knowing my Christ these fifty-one years, I am prepared to say that I would want everyone to be surrendered to Him, and wholly surrendered, and to His perfect will. — Dear Christian friend, please pray for 400,000 villages of India yet without the Gospel. Our basic goal this year for India is to add to our stock of literature to the extent of 300,000 Gospels, and 3,000 Testaments. (Tracts and booklets in addition). $10.00 will purchase about 1,000 Gospels, or approximately 40 cloth bound Testaments. Have about a month yet in India.

Denver Meade, Barry Black Named On Grand Jury List

Charges against 11 men are being considered today by the January term grand jury, meeting in its second session.

Three of the charges will be considered for indictment secretly. These cases will not be published or announced until the suspects are taken into custody should the grand jury bring true bills against the defendants.

Those remaining include Denver Eugene Meade, against whom the sheriff has filed two charges, both of murder.

Meade is accused of shooting a Commercial Point woman and her son, Charlotte Ann and John Van Sickle.

Also to be considered this time are the charges of producing marijuana without a license and malicious entry filed against Barry Stuart Black, an 18-year-old from the Canal Winchester area.

Other indictments being sought by the prosecutor, Richard Gerhardt, are:

Henry M. Oliver and Larry Stanley,

breaking and entering, two counts each; Ronald Lee McCreery Jr. and Kenneth Lee Ohrt, breaking and entering and grand larceny; Donovan K. McKnight, breaking and entering and possession of burglar's tools; Paul Van Gundy, non-support.

Jury members are: Merle E. Swank, Carolyn H. McCoy, Florence Kempton, Anna Belle Lake, Roger H. May, Rosemary Ankrom, James Peter McCoy, Edna Smith, Elvin R. Rowland, Martha Reid, Norman McKnight, Rinda White, Irene M. Driesbach, David S. Craven and Charles N. Smith. Smith replaces Ruth M. Conley who served at the jury's first session in January.

Marijuana Charge Is Reduced

A second offense of possession of marijuana was reduced to a misdemeanor for Mike Willoughby.

The young Circleville man had been arrested on possession charges once and was later stopped and a small amount of marijuana found in his possession. In Ohio, the second offense is a felony.

However, during Willoughby's trial Thursday, the county prosecutor recommended dismissing the second count charge and asked that the case be considered as a misdemeanor.

For this, Judge Ammer imposed a $1,000 fine and a year jail sentence, but suspended all but $100 of the fine and seven days of the jail term. Willoughby was made a probationer with the court for 18 months.

Bond Not Reduced For Mango

Michael Earl Mango's plea for a reduction in the $75,000 bond for a first degree murder charge was refused Thursday by Judge William Ammer.

The size of the bond prevents Mango from raising sufficient cash or property to allow his release from the county jail before his trial, claims Mango's attorney, Paul Cassidy of Columbus.

Judge Ammer advised that he would not consider a reduction in the amount because of the severity of the charge. Mango is accused of murdering the child of a Williamsport woman who later became his wife.

Cassidy indicated earlier that if his plea for reduction was ignored in the local court, he would seek a ruling on the matter from the 4th District Appeals Court.

The trial is scheduled on the court docket for April 23.

Pilots Want Clampdown On Hazardous Cargoes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's airline pilots are at odds with their bosses and the government over the shipment of hazardous materials on commercial aircraft.

The pilots want radioactive materials barred from their planes on grounds they are dangerous and a temptation to hijackers.

And they are suggesting proposals for tightening controls on shipments of other hazardous materials such as explosives and flammable materials.

Among other things, the pilots want tougher packaging and labeling regulations for hazardous materials shipped by air, a spokesman for the pilots said.

The Air Transport Association, representing the scheduled airlines, and the Federal Aviation Administration contend that present safeguards are adequate and effective.

Hazardous materials are transported safely if packaged and handled according to existing rules, they say, adding that air shipment of some materials is essential.

An Air Line Pilots Association committee headed by Capt. James Eckols and Don Dunn recently completed a study of an Atomic Energy Commission ruling issued last month that reduces the amounts of radioactive material that may be carried aboard domestic passenger aircraft.

The AEC said no more than 20 grams of plutonium or uranium-233 or 350 grams of U-235 may be shipped on commercial flights. Previously the limits had been 2,000 grams of plutonium or U-233 and 5,000 grams of U-235.

"Our policy is against carrying any fissionable material on a commercial aircraft," Eckols and Dunn said.

"It is hijackable material, worth $20,000 a pound—more valuable than heroin. It could serve as an incentive ... to hijack a plane."

"Aside from that, it's very, very hazardous material. Plutonium is probably the worst material in the world ... flammable, poisonous ... produces cancer on the skin."

"We recommend that it be carried, in the air, only by military people," they said in an interview.

The pilots said that an AEC listing indicates that about two per cent of radioactive materials disappear annually in one manner or another.

They concluded from this that within a few years an enemy agent by theft or hijacking, could build up a stockpile of bomb materials.

Last month AEC Chairman James Schlesinger, in announcing the new restrictions on air shipments, said there had been no thefts of special nuclear materials.

But he added, "it is imperative that all possible precautions be taken to safeguard them."

James F. Rudolph, director of FAA's flight standards service, said air shipment of radioisotopes to hospitals is essential to the health of two million Americans.

"These materials could not be transported any other way in the time required," Randolph said.

The American Hospital Association said 3,000 U.S. hospitals have radioisotope facilities and many have no alternative to air transportation for receiving the materials they need.

An ATA spokesman said the scheduled airlines serve 531 cities, but only 50 of them have all-cargo flights. Thus, he said, radioisotopes cannot be carried exclusively on air freighters. Some must move in the cargo underbellies of passenger aircraft.

The spokesman added that the radioactive materials, amounting to between one and four per cent of all air freight moved in a year, are under strict packaging, labeling and weight regulations.

"The handling of such cargo has yet to result in a single reported case of serious injury," he said.

Airlines are required to notify an airplane captain of any hazardous material aboard his craft. He has the authority to require that the material be removed if he considers it dangerous, or to refuse to make the flight.

Hazardous materials are divided into eight categories: explosives, radioactive materials, flammable liquids and solids, oxidizing materials, corrosive liquids, poisons, compressed gases and biological agents.

British Tourists

Use Cheap Air Plan

LONDON (AP) — Thousands of British tourists are trying to get to the United States by flying to Canada on cut-rate flights because of U.S. refusal to allow new, cheaper, transatlantic fares, travel agents said today.

Canada has accepted British proposals for the lower fares on both scheduled and charter flights, but U.S. authorities turned them down, apparently because of the opposition of U.S. airlines.

Cost Of Blitz In Vietnam War $25 Million Daily

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 12-day bombing blitz of Hanoi and Haiphong last December cost $25 million a day, a top Pentagon official has told Congress.

Dennis J. Doolin, deputy assistant secretary of defense for Asian affairs, also told the House Armed Services Committee Wednesday that the bombing was so precise, "the citizens of Hanoi came out to watch the show."

Doolin testified at a hearing on four resolutions introduced by antiwar congressmen immediately after the bombing ended Dec. 29. The resolutions call for detailed information on sorties, bomb tonnage, costs and men killed or wounded.

Rep. Michael Harrington, D-Mass., chief sponsor of the resolution, later said it was pointless to consider them now that a cease-fire has been declared. But committee chairman F. Edward Hebert, D-La., said they had to be disposed of.

Report Civil War In East Africa

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — A Belgian government official says there is "a serious situation" in the East African nation of Rwanda, where press reports say civil war has broken out again between two long-time enemy tribes.

A report from neighboring Burundi said Hutu tribesmen killed Tutsi students at the national university in Butare last week.

The Belgian official declined to confirm or deny on the report but said the situation was serious in the former Belgian colony.

A Page Of Opinion

Car Sales Growing

Leading the nation in what is shaping up as a boom year, the auto industry has closed one record 12 months and set its sights on another for 1973. The 9.3 million American-made cars sold last year was a record, but the sights for this year are on 11 million sales units. Giving impetus to the goal is the unusually strong demand this winter, a season which in many years has produced slack production schedules and growing inventories. Sales are strong, inventories are down and there are reports that some buyers are waiting weeks for their favorite models. Yet to determine the full year's performance are labor contracts which expire in the fall. Serious problems in negotiating a new contract could disrupt the rosy picture. There is nothing to indicate whether labor and management will be able to come to terms amicably and without production interruption. If they can, the auto industry will be one of the bell-wethers ringing in a good year for the economy.

Most Crowded

Now that mainland China has begun to open its doors to outsiders, some interesting revisions are necessary to various standings in the world order. For instance, the world's largest city no longer is Tokyo or New York.

published annually by the United Nations, includes information from Red China for the first time in the current edition. The second most populous city is Tokyo, with a population of 8.8 million. Third is New York, with 7.9 million. If New York's suburbs were included, that city would add

3.6 million inhabitants. But, of course, Shanghai or Tokyo might also happen to have a few extra million commuters hanging around the fringes. So much for population densities. Now, if one is interested in a location with a sensible ratio of land to inhabitants, he knows where not to look.

The Energy Crisis

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (KFS)—The ecologists, in pursuit of their public love affair with the migrating caribou, have stopped the trans-Alaska oil pipeline. Now they are trying to keep the Mobil Oil Company from doing exploratory offshore drilling in Mobile Bay, a "fragile" body of water with a narrow entrance where Admiral Farragut once damned the Southern Confederacy's torpedoes. The Alabama Attorney General, William Baxley, with an eye to the ecologist constituency, has asked Governor George Wallace to refund some $100,000 in preliminary fee money to the Mobil Oil Company. But the governor has refused the attorney general's request, noting carefully that he intends to maintain a nice balance between the health of the environment and the needs of Alabama to surmount the growing energy crisis. A state oil and gas board will have to pass on the Mobil application for a permit anyway.

It could be that the governor has been listening with some intellectual profit to Dr. Edward Teller, the world's most eminent nuclear physicist, who came into Alabama the other day to warn a big audience at Troy State University that our present sources of energy might be dangerously depleted by 1985. Dr. Teller, who dislikes being called "the father of the H-bomb," is distressed by the bad name that has blackened the possibilities for peaceful uses of atomic fission and fusion, which he thinks will be needed as a prime source of energy by the year 2,000. Expressing a magisterial disgust with Ralph Nader, whom he termed an ignoramus about nuclear environmental dangers, Dr. Teller lamented that it now takes eight years to build a nuclear reactor where it took a mere 18 months during World War II. Three years are invariably given over to fruitless verbal bickering which might be avoided if reactors were to be placed safely underground. Since the atomic reactor seems to be going nowhere during these years of the present energy crisis, Dr. Teller hopes the energy gap will be bridged by such things as the development of giant retorts for getting oil from our plentiful oil shale deposits, and by "gasifying" bituminous coal by burning it underground. When Governor Wallace heard of the latter possibility, he pricked up his ears. Alabama, so Teller noted, has the richest coal deposits in the United States. A meeting between the governor and Dr. Teller was scheduled for the day after the physicist's speech. The question of trusting Mobile Oil to explore the short offshore stretch of Alabama's frontage on the Gulf of Mexico is a good one. In Mobil's behalf, it may be said that the company is the leader in its industry in promoting concern for ecological safety. The public interest advertisements that it runs on the New York Times opposite-to-the-editorial page are well written and generally far more persuasive than the environmental comments that appear in the adjoining "uptown Village Voice" columns of the Times' own Tom Wicker and Anthony Lewis. Dr. Teller remarked that every jumbo-sized oil tanker that now sails the Seven Seas is much more of a potential hazard to the environment than an offshore drilling rig. In Teller's estimation, the ecologists are riding for a fall unless they abandon their obstructive attitudes toward energy research and development. Some of our avant-gardists have already caught the Teller pitch. Esquire magazine, which is not exactly a practitioner of the "old journalism," is now teaming up with the Department of Journalism of the University of Michigan to offer a series of Corporate Social Responsibility Advertising Awards to whatever companies can make the best case for their programs to safeguard the environment and help the consumer. Mobil's advertising program makes the company an obvious candidate for an Esquire award; it remains to be seen what the most articulate of the oil companies plans to do to safeguard "fragile" Mobile Bay and still deliver oil, if there be any there, to the Alabama economy.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail: The hippy-hop life of a cottontail rabbit is a short tale. Out of every 1,000 bunnies born, only a third will live long enough to leave the nest. They are killed by cold or rain or raiding skunks, weasels or cats. Slightly more than three years after birth, all 1,000 rabbits will probably be dead. A young brave in the Guajira Indian tribe in Colombia who wants an attractive bride may have to pay his prospective mother-in-law as many as 300 goats. Compared to the prices brides fetch in other native tribes around the world, this may seem exorbitant — but it has a built-in guarantee. If the bride proves unfaithful to her husband, he can return her and collect a fine from his mother-in-law—also payable in goats. Quotable notables: "Pleasure is nature's test, her sign of approval.

Speaking Of Your Health

This morning's paper had three columns with photographs of devastating fires that took the lives of four children, two adults and two firemen. It was a shocking portrait of the unnecessary waste of lives in an era so filled with medical and surgical advances. Children are safeguarded from the crippling devastation of polio, the aftermath of complications from measles, mumps, diphtheria, and tetanus. Adults are saved by heroic heart surgery and cancers are cured by cobalt radio therapy.

throwing it away in order to be sure that it is out. Use safety matches and be sure to check them for "afterglow." 3) Rid the home of all inflammable (now called "flammable") gasolines, kerosenes, and fuel oils, unless kept in approved safety cans. 4) Do not smoke in bed. This is the leading cause of death by fire. Nobody ever expects to fall asleep while smoking, yet many do, and thus they compromise the lives of relatives. A few drinks are all that is needed to make a bed smoker a threat to his and other lives. 5) Be sure that all electric appliances and their wiring meet the rigid rules of safety of the Underwriters Laboratory.

These lives are often sustained only to be sacrificed later by carelessness and total disregard for the death-dealing fire hazards that needlessly exist in our own homes. Families and communities spend vast amounts of money for hospitals, physicians, and medications in order to restore the health of a single member of the family stricken by disease. Yet rarely can these same families be induced to inspect, find and remedy the fire risks that surround them and threaten their destiny. For more than half a century, the National Fire Protective Association, in cooperation with local fire services, has devoted itself to educational campaigns to reduce the senseless waste of thousands of lives by preventable fires. The Institute for Home Fire Safety suggests:

All public office buildings, hospitals, schools, and institutions of all kinds have regular orderly fire drills. Why not the home? Without introducing the elements of fear, all children and adults must play an active role in finding and eliminating the obvious and the hidden sources of potential fire. A constructive family project establishes in advance exactly what each person is to do should a fire start. This routine fire drill should be planned three or four times a year to emphasize the changing responsibility of each member of a growing family. Many safe, simple fire-fighting devices are available. These should be kept readily accessible, especially in the kitchen. The home of a patient of mine was destroyed when a spotlight set fire to a bird's nest under the cornice of the roof. Fortunately, no lives were lost, but it emphasizes the lurking dangers from fire.

Agricultural experts, who had predicted butter prices were headed back down into the vicinity of oleo, evidently failed to check the Circleville area where the "yellow stuff" was still bringing from 97 cents to a $1.03 a pound in the local markets. Clark Husinger, 146 W. Union St., was named a member of a committee to make a study of problems involved in the building of a modern highway system for Ohio. The study had been requested by Gov. Thomas J. Herbert.

Approximately $29,500 was paid by General Electric Corporation for 26 acres of land, south of E. Ohio St., on which they planned to build their Circleville branch plant.

Nearly 125 sportsmen participated in a fox drive near Amanda. The hunters made five roundups and came out with five foxes. Proceeds from the drive went to the Amanda churches.

Pickaway County's long-awaited Fairgrounds Coliseum was expected to be ready for the start of the county's annual Class B basketball tournament. The building had a seating potential of over 2,700.

The Reverend Father Edward J. Reidy, of Circleville's St. Joseph Catholic Church, asked members of his congregation to refrain from throwing rice at weddings in an effort to save food.

A Page Of Opinion

Car Sales Growing

Leading the nation in what is shaping up as a boom year, the auto industry has closed one record 12 months and set its sights on another for 1973. The 9.3 million American-made cars sold last year was a record, but the sights for this year are on 11 million sales units. Giving impetus to the goal is the unusually strong demand this winter, a season which in many years has produced slack production schedules and growing inventories. Sales are strong, inventories are down and there are reports that some buyers are waiting weeks for their favorite models. Yet to determine the full year's performance are labor contracts which expire in the fall. Serious problems in negotiating a new contract could disrupt the rosy picture. There is nothing to indicate whether labor and management will be able to come to terms amicably and without production interruption. If they can, the auto industry will be one of the bell-wethers ringing in a good year for the economy.

Most Crowded

Now that mainland China has begun to open its doors to outsiders, some interesting revisions are necessary to various standings in the world order. For instance, the world's largest city no longer is Tokyo or New York.

It is Shanghai, with a population of 10.8 million. The UN Demographic Yearbook, published annually by the United Nations, includes information from Red China for the first time in the current edition.

The second most populous city is Tokyo, with a population of 8.8 million. Third is New York, with 7.9 million.

If New York's suburbs were included, that city would add

3.6 million inhabitants. But, of course, Shanghai or Tokyo might also happen to have a few extra million commuters hanging around the fringes.

So much for population densities. Now, if one is interested in a location with a sensible ratio of land to inhabitants, he knows where not to look.

The Energy Crisis

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (KFS)—The ecologists, in pursuit of their public love affair with the migrating caribou, have stopped the trans-Alaska oil pipeline. Now they are trying to keep the Mobil Oil Company from doing exploratory offshore drilling in Mobile Bay, a "fragile" body of water with a narrow entrance where Admiral Farragut once damned the Southern Confederacy's torpedoes.

The Alabama Attorney General, William Baxley, with an eye to the ecologist constituency, has asked Governor George Wallace to refund some $100,000 in preliminary fee money to the Mobil Oil Company. But the governor has refused the attorney general's request, noting carefully that he intends to maintain a nice balance between the health of the environment and the needs of Alabama to surmount the growing energy crisis. A state oil and gas board will have to pass on the Mobil application for a permit anyway.

It could be that the governor has been listening with some intellectual profit to Dr. Edward Teller, the world's most eminent nuclear physicist, who came into Alabama the other day to warn a big audience at Troy State University that our present sources of energy might be dangerously depleted by 1985. Dr. Teller, who dislikes being called "the father of the H-bomb," is distressed by the bad name that has blackened the possibilities for peaceful uses of atomic fission and fusion, which he thinks will be needed as a prime source of energy by the year 2,000.

Expressing a magisterial disgust with Ralph Nader, whom he termed an ignoramus about nuclear environmental dangers, Dr. Teller lamented that it now takes eight years to build a nuclear reactor where it took a mere 18 months during World War II. Three years are invariably given over to fruitless verbal bickering which might be avoided if reactors were to be placed safely underground.

Since the atomic reactor seems to be going nowhere during these years of the present energy crisis, Dr. Teller hopes the energy gap will be bridged by such things as the development of giant retorts for getting oil from our plentiful oil shale deposits, and by "gasifying" bituminous coal by burning it underground. When Governor Wallace heard of the latter possibility, he pricked up his ears. Alabama, so Teller noted, has the richest coal deposits in the United States. A meeting between the governor and Dr. Teller was scheduled for the day after the physicist's speech.

The question of trusting Mobile Oil to explore the short offshore stretch of Alabama's frontage on the Gulf of Mexico is a good one. In Mobil's behalf, it may be said that the company is the leader in its industry in promoting concern for ecological safety. The public interest advertisements that it runs on the New York Times opposite-to-the-editorial page are well written and generally far more persuasive than the environmental comments that appear in the adjoining "uptown Village Voice" columns of the Times' own Tom Wicker and Anthony Lewis.

The Institute for Home Fire Safety suggests:

- 1) Keep all matches in metal containers out of the reach of the children. Fuel-burning lighters tempt children readily.
- 2) Get into the habit of breaking or tearing the match in half before throwing it away in order to be sure that it is out. Use safety matches and be sure to check them for "afterglow."

Irish Vote Count Starts

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The count started today in the Irish Republic's national election with both sides claiming victory on the basis of a heavy turnout.

First reports indicated that more than 90 per cent of those registered voted in some areas. It was believed that the over-all turnout was close to the record 81.3 per cent of 1933.

The election pitted Prime Minister Jack Lynch's Fianna Fail—Soldiers of Destiny—party against a coalition of Liam Cosgrave's Fine Gael—Irish Party—and the Labor party.

Fianna Fail has been in power for 16 years.

First results were expected around 11 a.m. EST, but the final results may not be known before Friday or Saturday because of a complicated system of proportional representation.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Ways and Means Committee at High Street we want to thank our sponsors the radio station, The Herald and patrons who made our first spaghetti dinner a success. Even though it was a lot of hard work; we all enjoyed doing it. We hope that this can be an annual event at our school. Being our first experience we hope to improve on our next one held.

A special thanks to Joann Foll whose help we couldn't have done without. Thanks again.

Condemns Israel

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — By a vote of 105-1, the International Civil Aviation Organization has condemned Israel for shooting down a Libyan airliner over the Sinai Desert last week.

It was the most decisive roll call against Israel ever recorded by an agency of the United Nations since the Jewish state was born in 1949.

Israel cast the lone vote against the resolution, adopted Wednesday by an assembly of ICAO. Colombia and Malawi abstained from voting on the measure, which also orders an ICAO investigation into the Feb. 21 tragedy that claimed 106 lives.

Israel indicated it would cooperate with ICAO and other official investigators, although it opposed the condemn-and-investigate resolution on grounds that it prejudged the issue.

Lower Age Of Majority Questioned

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Lowering the age of majority from 21 to 18 might force the Ohio Youth Commission to release inmates over 18 it feels are dangerous, the Senate Judiciary Committee was told today.

Youth Commission Director William Ensign said he was not against the bill before the committee which lowers the age of majority to 18 for everything except drinking but felt the possibility of early release was something the committee should consider.

He said the bill might bring a lawsuit that could invalidate the present law requiring the Youth Commission to take charge of offenders until they are 21.

Ensign said the youth commission has 342 youths between 18 and 21 in its custody but less than 100 are currently in institutions.

The bill before the committee was authorized by Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati.

A similar measure was introduced into the House during the day. It would give 18 to 21-year-olds all adult rights, including drinking.

Ku Klux Klan Opens War Against Pornographic Items

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan is focusing a critical eye on pornography. "Other respectable social organizations" should do the same, says

Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, imperial wizard of United Klans of America. Shelton said in an interview Thursday that the war on smut is merely a branching out of activities. Over the years, Klan targets have included Jews, Catholics, liquor and racial integration.

"We're still involved in educating people to the evils of busing students, and we're behind the scenes in some court battles," he said.

Thus far in its assault on X-rated films, the Klan has singled out theaters in Gadsden, Ala., and Lake Wales, Fla., Shelton said, adding: "By spring, we'll be in full force in several states, including Georgia, Mississippi, Kansas and Montana."

The imperial wizard, who said he has not seen an X-rated movie or even an R-rated one, said Klansmen who volunteer to view the films to take notes have reported their contents to him.

Bookstores have been staked out in some locations, Shelton said. He added that, from all indications, the potential visitor to a pornography shop "has a tendency to fall into the freakish category."

"We have at several smut locations across the nation hidden cameras taking pictures of everyone entering the premises of these pornography palaces," Shelton said. "Their pictures will be filed in our local offices to work in conjunction with the local police departments."

He said no police department has requested the Klan's help.

Students Demonstrate Against Meal Prices

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — About 300 students at Campbell Junior High School Thursday staged a demonstration over price increases in the cafeteria.

School officials said ala carte items were raised 2 to 5 cents but plate lunches remained at 30 cents.

The hikes were blamed on rising food costs.

Oldsters Give Tips For Ripe Age

NEW YORK (AP) — Old folks who have lived to advanced ages often are asked how it's done. To what habits or rules do they attribute their long life? They offer a potpourri of prescriptions, religious and otherwise.

A collection of them was assembled in a recent issue of the Immortality Newsletter, a bi-monthly roundup of anti-death research and thought published in San Marcos, Calif.

It reports there currently are about 12,000 Americans who have lived more than 100 years, and presents this sampling of some of their formulas for achieving such longevity: "Believe in God. Pray daily." "Have a free mind. Don't fall for religious bunk." "Never drink alcohol." "Drink a pint of whisky per day." "Read the Bible."

"Read spicy detective stories." "Get plenty of exercise." "Shun physical activity. Conserve your energy." "Get plenty of rest. Sleep 10 or 12 hours per day."

Power Companies Request Extension

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Two operating companies of the giant American Electric Power System are asking the state to ease its air quality requirements as they apply to a number of the system's generating stations in West Virginia.

"Our position stems not from any alleged arrogance, but rather from a realistic look at the hard facts of a very difficult situation," E. Glenn Robinson, counsel for Appalachian Power Co. and Ohio Power Co., says in a letter to the state Air Pollution Control Commission.

"Never sleep over four hours per day." "Sleep with your feet pointed south, so that magnetic vibrations from the north will pass through your body and out through your feet, ordering and harmonizing all systemic functions in the process."

"Sleep with your feet pointed north, so that magnetic vibrations from the north will pass upwards to your brain, with rejuvenating effect."

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Weather Service's outlook for Ohio predicts temperatures rising into the 50s and 60s across the state today with showers likely to develop.

Mild cloudy weather prevailed over the state Thursday night with a few sprinkles of rain in the northwest counties—leaving only traces.

The coolest sections were in the central and southeast where Columbus reported 36 degrees and Zanesville and Ironton had readings of 37 early Friday. Most readings in the northwest half of the state were in the 40s.

The Friday morning weather map showed a low center over Arkansas. Ahead of this system a broad area of southerly winds is transporting mild humid air from the Gulf of Mexico northward to the Great Lakes.

The low will move northeastward to the lower Ohio Valley by Saturday morning, and weaken. The threat of showers is expected to continue into the weekend. A cold front now extending from Lake Huron to Missouri shows indications of becoming stationary and mild weather promises to remain through the balance of the week.

FORECASTS

OHIO Cloudy with occasional showers tonight and Friday. Lows tonight in the low and mid 40s. Highs Saturday from the mid 50s to low 60s.

WEST CENTRAL Cloudy with occasional showers tonight and Saturday. Lows tonight in the mid 40s. Highs Saturday from the mid 50s to low 60s.

ROTARY — Paul Diener, left, welcomed Bill Bower, General Telephone Public Affairs Division official, as speaker at the Thursday Rotary meeting. Bower gave a talk on the history of sound from its beginning to computerized sounds that can be interpreted in foreign languages instantly on the telephone. The March 22 program for the club will have Champ Henson, OSU football fullback, as speaker. Visitors Thursday were Harry Blank, Dale Bowers, Howard Smith, A. Woodrow and Carl Hicks.

Ku Klux Klan Opens War Against Pornographic Items

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — The Ku Klux Klan is focusing a critical eye on pornography. "Other respectable social organizations" should do the same, says

Robert M. Shelton of Tuscaloosa, imperial wizard of United Klans of America.

Shelton said in an interview Thursday that the war on smut is merely a branching out of activities. Over the years, Klan targets have included Jews, Catholics, liquor and racial integration.

"We're still involved in educating people to the evils of busing students, and we're behind the scenes in some court battles," he said.

Thus far in its assault on X-rated films, the Klan has singled out theaters in Gadsden, Ala., and Lake Wales, Fla., Shelton said, adding: "By spring, we'll be in full force in several states, including Georgia, Mississippi, Kansas and Montana."

The imperial wizard, who said he has not seen an X-rated movie or even an R-rated one, said Klansmen who volunteer to view the films to take notes have reported their contents to him.

Bookstores have been staked out in some locations, Shelton said. He added that, from all indications, the potential visitor to a pornography shop "has a tendency to fall into the freakish category."

"We have at several smut locations across the nation hidden cameras taking pictures of everyone entering the premises of these pornography palaces," Shelton said. "Their pictures will be filed in our local offices to work in conjunction with the local police departments."

He said no police department has requested the Klan's help.

Students Demonstrate Against Meal Prices

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — About 300 students at Campbell Junior High School Thursday staged a demonstration over price increases in the cafeteria.

School officials said ala carte items were raised 2 to 5 cents but plate lunches remained at 30 cents.

The hikes were blamed on rising food costs.

Oldsters Give Tips For Ripe Age

NEW YORK (AP) — Old folks who have lived to advanced ages often are asked how it's done. To what habits or rules do they attribute their long life? They offer a potpourri of prescriptions, religious and otherwise.

A collection of them was assembled in a recent issue of the Immortality Newsletter, a bi-monthly roundup of anti-death research and thought published in San Marcos, Calif.

It reports there currently are about 12,000 Americans who have lived more than 100 years, and presents this sampling of some of their formulas for achieving such longevity:

- "Believe in God. Pray daily."
- "Have a free mind. Don't fall for religious bunk."
- "Never drink alcohol."
- "Drink a pint of whisky per day."
- "Read the Bible."

- "Read spicy detective stories."
- "Get plenty of exercise."
- "Shun physical activity. Conserve your energy."
- "Get plenty of rest. Sleep 10 or 12 hours per day."

College Installs 'Jay' Rockefeller

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. (AP) — John D. Rockefeller IV, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor of West Virginia, was to be installed this morning as president of West Virginia Wesleyan College.

The 35-year-old member of the wealthy Rockefeller family was defeated in November's election by incumbent Gov. Arch A. Moore Jr.

"President Rockefeller" was to be installed in a brief convocation in the school's Wesley Chapel. Formal inauguration is scheduled for next fall.

Power Companies Request Extension

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — Two operating companies of the giant American Electric Power System are asking the state to ease its air quality requirements as they apply to a number of the system's generating stations in West Virginia.

"Our position stems not from any alleged arrogance, but rather from a realistic look at the hard facts of a very difficult situation," E. Glenn Robinson, counsel for Appalachian Power Co. and Ohio Power Co., says in a letter to the state Air Pollution Control Commission.

"Never sleep over four hours per day."

"Sleep with your feet pointed south, so that magnetic vibrations from the north will pass through your body and out through your feet, ordering and harmonizing all systemic functions in the process."

"Sleep with your feet pointed north, so that magnetic vibrations from the north will pass upwards to your brain, with rejuvenating effect."

"Abstain from meat, eating only raw fruits, vegetables and nuts."

"Eat a pound of lean meat every day."

"Abstain from dairy products."

"Eat only eggs, butter, milk and cheese."

"Drink plenty of water."

"Never drink water. A little wine for thy stomach's sake."

"Smoke a corncob pipe continuously."

"Chew a plug of tobacco per day."

"Avoid tobacco in every form."

"Abstain from sex."

"Have plenty of sexual activity."

"Get plenty of sunshine. It is the source of all energy and health."

"Avoid sunlight. It causes cancer."

"Be at peace with yourself and all men."

"Be ornery. Have at least one good fight with somebody every day."

A. Stuart Otto, editor of the newsletter, comments: "Take your choice. Just don't try them all at once."

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The National Weather Service's outlook for Ohio predicts temperatures rising into the 50s and 60s across the state today with showers likely to develop.

Mild cloudy weather prevailed over the state Thursday night with a few sprinkles of rain in the northwest counties—leaving only traces.

The coolest sections were in the central and southeast where Columbus reported 36 degrees and Zanesville and Ironton had readings of 37 early Friday. Most readings in the northwest half of the state were in the 40s.

The Friday morning weather map showed a low center over Arkansas. Ahead of this system a broad area of southerly winds is transporting mild humid air from the Gulf of Mexico northward to the Great Lakes.

The low will move northeastward to the lower Ohio Valley by Saturday morning, and weaken. The threat of showers is expected to continue into the weekend. A cold front now extending from Lake Huron to Missouri shows indications of becoming stationary and mild weather promises to remain through the balance of the week.

Souffles, Dessert Or Entree

By ALICE DENHOFF

One thing calorie counting has done and that is to give a knockout blow to the elaborate, over-rich bridge luncheon. Today's hostesses vie with each other in serving low calorie luncheons that are attractive to the eye, delightful to the taste — and a bit different from the usual such fare. Of course, the highlight of a party luncheon is the dessert and what better than a light-as-air souffle.

The main dish is easy. Want a for instance? On a large chop plate, arrange portions of asparagus spears in wheelspoke formation. In the center of the "wheel" and in a circle halfway between center and tips, arrange a circular row of shrimp in cheese sauce. Dust with paprika and serve with large, almost paper-thin wafers.

Now for the delicious dessert, an:

ORANGE SOUFFLE

1/4 cup butter

1/4 cup flour
1 1/4 cups orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
4 egg yolks
4 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt

Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. Set ungreased 1 1/2-quart casserole in shallow baking pan; place in oven. Pour boiling water around casserole to depth of at least one inch; let casserole heat while preparing souffle.

Melt butter in saucepan. Add flour and blend well. Cook over medium heat until bubbly. Add orange juice and sugar all at once and cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thickened. Remove from heat and stir in orange rind.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Fold in orange sauce.

Add salt to egg whites; beat until stiff but not dry. Fold yolk mixture gradually into egg whites.

Pour into heated casserole. Cut into souffle mixture with spoon about one inch from side of casserole and about one inch deep, completely circling mixture.

Bake for one hour and 10 to 15 minutes, or until puffy, delicately browned and a silver knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Serve at once. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

LEMON SOUFFLE

Scant 3/4 cup or about 5 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-3 cup sugar
4 eggs yolks

1-3 cup lemonade concentrate, undiluted

Preheat oven to 325 degrees F. Set 1-quart (4 cup) ungreased casserole in shallow baking pan. Set in oven. Pour boiling water around casserole to depth of at least 1 inch.

Add salt to egg whites and beat until frothy. Add sugar gradually, about 1 tablespoon at a time; beat until stiff and glossy but not dry. Set aside.

Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored; blend in lemon concentrate.

Fold egg whites gently but thoroughly into yolk mixture. Pour into heated casserole, cut into souffle mixture with spoon about 1 inch from side of casserole about 1 inch deep, completely circling mixture. Return casserole to pan of hot water and bake at 325 degrees F. about 60 minutes.

Serve souffle at the table from casserole. Serves 4 or 5.

If souffle must be held for a short time, reduce oven temperature to as low as possible, and leave casserole in the hot water until souffle is served. This goes for the orange souffle, too.

Not by any means a low-calorie recipe, the next souffle suggestion is ideal for luncheon or supper, nutrition-rich and flavorful:

BACON STRATA SOUFFLE

6 to 8 slices bread
1/4 pound bacon, diced and cooked
3 cups scalded milk
4 eggs, slightly beaten
3/4 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper

Cut each slice of bread into 3 or 4 strips. Arrange half the bread to fit the bottom of a well-greased casserole (approximately 2-quart size). Spread cooked bacon and bacon fat over bread. Reserve 4 slices of bacon to top the souffle before it is served.

Arrange remaining bread slices as a second layer.

Add salt to eggs and beat slightly. Slowly add scalded milk to eggs, stirring constantly. Pour over bread. Let stand 30 minutes.

Set casserole in pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees F. until knife inserted in center comes out clean, about 45 minutes. Garnish with bacon slices.

To serve, spoon from casserole. Serves 6.

Suit Seeks Alimony

From Johnny Carson

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A former wife of television late night show personality Johnny Carson has gone to court to collect two past-due alimony payments.

Joanne Carson said in the suit filed Wednesday in Superior Court that she understood Carson stopped paying $6,250-a-month alimony because he felt she violated a divorce agreement.

Senior Center Kitchen Band Entertains In Stoutsville

The Kitchen Band of Pickaway County Senior Center met Wednesday afternoon at the Center for a brief rehearsal and then entertained and visited with patients in the Crites Nursing Home in Stoutsville.

Taking part in the project were: Pauline Pearce, Nellie Oldaker, Helen Knece, Ruth and John Miranda, Opal Leist, Leona Hedges, Bessie Pierce, Dagmar Meyers, Twyla Lorentz and Viola Hartranft, who has been instrumental in organizing the band.

Anyone interested in joining is invited to the Center on the 2nd and 4th Wednesday afternoons of each month.

On March 6th the Center will sponsor a card party at the L-K Restaurant in the banquet room beginning at 8 p.m.

Refreshments will be served at intermission and prizes awarded.

Members who have made reservations for the dinner sponsored by Chillicothe Senior Citizens on March 8th are reminded to meet 5 p.m. at the Center, and bring their own table service.

If unable to attend anyone who has made a reservation is asked to call the Center so that someone else may go.

OTA Keeps Data On All Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Trucking Association last week distributed its fourth biennial printing of its government directory, which lists all legislators and state officials.

Donald B. Smith, the OTA's executive director, said 9,000 copies of the latest printing—there have been three others—went out to the OTA membership, legislators, state and county officials, newsmen and libraries.

The booklet has a picture and a biographical sketch of all legislators, state officials and congressmen. The OTA finances the publication partly by advertising from members.

"We just try to break even on it," said Smith. There is considerable cost, he said, in man hours devoted to its preparation. It even lists the home phone numbers of the public officials.

It is the only biographical record of former members on file in either House. Prior to its appearance, the legislature kept only the names and terms of members in its files.

More and more lawmakers are using press releases to get their names and views before the public—their constituents in particular.

The Republican minority office in the Ohio House makes it easy. Members can go there and get them already written up, complete with quotes. All the member has to do is fill in his name on a blank line.

One freshman representative from northern Ohio sent one to his hometown newspaper, but forgot to fill in the blanks.

Rep. Thomas Gilmartin, D-51 Youngstown, is pushing his bill to let the state's top officials remain in the Statehouse—and not require them to move as planned into the new state office building in downtown Columbus.

"They should stay in the Statehouse, in the center of things," he said.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and Treasurer Gertrude Donahey testified on behalf of the bill before the House Ways and Means Committee. Ferguson said he didn't want to move into the 44-story skyscraper until convinced "that it's safe."

Mrs. Donahey said she doesn't want to move data processing and other equipment in her office.

Plans call for everyone but the governor and lieutenant governor to move into the $60 million structure across the street from the capitol. Besides Ferguson and Mrs. Donahey, other officials slated to move are Atty.

Gen. William J. Brown and Secretary of State Ted J. Brown.

The attorney general has said publicly he doesn't want to move but would like instead to take over the entire Statehouse annex which, under the present plan, is to be torn down when Brown and the Supreme Court move out.

Ted Brown doesn't mind moving because, he says, "we're so cramped for space—and there's no way of getting more of it here—that I'm looking forward to it with a great deal of anxiety."

Blame Filler For Toxic Mushrooms

EAST PALESTINE, Ohio (AP) — Tests were being conducted at United Canning Corp., here on a new filler machine believed to be the cause of the contamination of several thousand cans of mushrooms recalled earlier this month.

Plant Manager John E. Vecchione said an automatic filling machine prevented the contents of the cans from being totally sterilized when they were put in a pressure cooker designed to kill bacteria.

"Our theory is ... this machine packed the mushrooms into the can too tight. The mushrooms were so compact (in the can) that the heat did not go to the center of the can, just to the sides," he said.

He said the manufacturer of the filler, Solbern Co., of Fairfield, N.J., was contacted as soon as it was discovered.

The mushrooms, packaged in six-pound, nine-ounce cans, were distributed in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Wisconsin and Illinois, the FDA said.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren
Single Woman Hurt: Married Lover Untrue

DEAR ABBY: My heart is breaking, and although I think I know the answer, maybe if I say it in print I could accept it more easily.

I am an unmarried woman who has been absolutely faithful to a married man ever since we fell in love four years ago. His excuse for not leaving his wife and marrying me was his children. I accepted this. I know that hundreds of husbands and wives live under the same roof after they stop loving each other just for the sake of their children, but they usually have their own interests and go their own way.

Abby, I never asked him to leave his home, his wife, or his children, but I did expect him to be just as true to me as I was to him.

Well, I was true to him, but he was sleeping with both of us!

He says he loves me, but I am beginning to wonder. I can understand his keeping his marriage intact for the children's sake, but must he SLEEP with his wife for the children's sake? Or is it just because he wants to?

DEAR ABBY: With some people marriage doesn't work. In our case, the divorce didn't work. After five years of marriage and two children, my husband and I got a divorce. The first three months we stayed apart, but the last three months we have been living together just like we did when we were still married. We still love each other, and we want to be man and wife again. I know you can get a marriage annulled. Can you get a divorce annulled?

ME AND HIM
DEAR ME: Ask the lawyer who handled your divorce. I've never heard of "annulling" a divorce. You may have to wait until your divorce is final before you're free to marry again.

DEAR ABBY: When a wife complained because her husband was turned on by the sight of beautiful women in pictures, movies, in person, etc., you said those feelings were natural for a man and he should not be made to feel guilty.

Well, it's natural for a woman to feel jealous when she sees her husband enjoying the beauty of other women, especially when the wife herself is not so generously endowed. So she shouldn't feel guilty about her feelings either.

If a man is smart he will forego the pleasure of looking at other women when he's with his wife. It will pay off, believe me. Just last night my husband took me out for dinner, and at a nearby table was a beautiful girl, provocatively dressed. Her tight-fitting, low-cut gown showed off her best features, and as if that wasn't enough she had a slit in her skirt which revealed a lovely leg right up to her thigh! Every other husband in the place couldn't take his eyes off this girl. My husband gave her one glance, and pretended she wasn't even there for the rest of the evening!

U.S. Judge Turns Down Tax Appeal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A federal court judge has dismissed a challenge to the state income tax law involving joint returns.

U. S. District Court Judge Carl Rubin Wednesday said federal law restricted the role of federal courts in questions arising from state income tax laws.

Jack and JoAnn Walker, of Columbus, had filed a suit challenging the Ohio law that requires persons filing a joint return under the federal income tax law to also file a joint state income tax return.

They said the differences in the rates of taxation under state and federal income tax laws prompted the challenge. They added the state law discriminates against married persons and others who elect to file joint federal income tax returns.

Rubin denied a request for a three-judge panel to consider the challenge and dismissed the action.

The judge cited federal law that federal district courts should not rule on any state income tax law "where a plain, speedy, efficient remedy may be had in the courts of such state."

He added, "We do not deem it necessary or proper to reach the merits of the plaintiffs' contentions."

Amendment Rejected

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — The state Senate, after several hours of emotional debate, rejected on a 27-23 vote Wednesday the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Japanese Deny Retaliation Set For U.S. Action

TOKYO (AP) — The Foreign Ministry took the highly unusual step today of formally denying that the Japanese government plans any retaliation against the United States for President Nixon's economic and China "shocks" of 1971.

In a written statement dictated to foreign newsmen, ministry spokesman Tsutomu Wada said his government is "fully satisfied" with the dialogue set up in the U.S.-Japan summit meetings of January and August 1972 and intends to maintain it.

Wada conceded that Nixon's 1971 about-face in China policy and his 10 per cent surcharge on imports a month later had "come as a surprise" to Japan. But he added the Japanese now feel that mutual understanding has been reaffirmed.

Any idea that Japan "intends to even the score by giving similar shock treatment to the U.S. government" is untrue, he suggested.

SALT CREEK PTO NEWS

The February meeting of the Saltcreek Parent Teachers Organization was held 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the school gymnasium.

President James Eberhart opened the meeting by leading the members in the pledge to the flag. Room count was won by Mrs. Dow West's fifth grade class with nine parents present.

A motion was passed to purchase a science kit to be used by grades three and four. Since no estimate has been made on blacktopping under the playground equipment it was tabled until the next meeting. The nominating committee was named as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Poling, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boldozer and Mr. and Mrs. James Hardman.

Following the brief business meeting the annual talent show was held with Marvin Spangler serving as master of ceremonies. The judges were Mrs. Sheila Zinn, Mrs. Debbie Chandler and William Williams. The contestants were divided into three groups. Group 1—grades kindergarten through third was won by Stephanie Jones with a piano solo. Stephanie is a third grader from Saltcreek.

Group 2, grades four through six, was won by Jackie Cave, a student in the sixth grade at Pickaway School. Jackie presented a piano solo. Group three, grades seven through 12, was won by Sherie Marquart with a flute solo. Sherie is a sophomore at Logan Elm High School.

OTA Keeps Data On All Officials

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Trucking Association last week distributed its fourth biennial printing of its government directory, which lists all legislators and state officials.

Donald B. Smith, the OTA's executive director, said 9,000 copies of the latest printing—there have been three others—went out to the OTA membership, legislators, state and county officials, newsmen and libraries.

The booklet has a picture and a biographical sketch of all legislators, state officials and congressmen. The OTA finances the publication partly by advertising from members.

"We just try to break even on it,"

said Smith. There is considerable cost, he said, in man hours devoted to its preparation. It even lists the home phone numbers of the public officials.

It is the only biographical record of former members on file in either House. Prior to its appearance, the legislature kept only the names and terms of members in its files.

More and more lawmakers are using press releases to get their names and views before the public—their constituents in particular.

The Republican minority office in the Ohio House makes it easy. Members can go there and get them already written up, complete with quotes. All the member has to do is fill in his name on a blank line.

One freshman representative from northern Ohio sent one to his hometown newspaper, but forgot to fill in the blanks.

Rep. Thomas Gilmartin, D-51 Youngstown, is pushing his bill to let the state's top officials remain in the Statehouse—and not require them to move as planned into the new state office building in downtown Columbus.

"They should stay in the Statehouse, in the center of things," he said.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson and Treasurer Gertrude Donahey testified on behalf of the bill before the House Ways and Means Committee. Ferguson said he didn't want to move into the 44-story skyscraper until convinced "that it's safe."

Mrs. Donahey said she doesn't want to move data processing and other equipment in her office.

Plans call for everyone but the governor and lieutenant governor to move into the $60 million structure across the street from the capitol. Besides Ferguson and Mrs. Donahey, other officials slated to move are Atty.

Gen. William J. Brown and Secretary of State Ted J. Brown.

The attorney general has said publicly he doesn't want to move but would like instead to take over the entire Statehouse annex which, under the present plan, is to be torn down when Brown and the Supreme Court move out.

Ted Brown doesn't mind moving because, he says, "we're so cramped for space—and there's no way of getting more of it here—that I'm looking forward to it with a great deal of anxiety."

Blame Filler For Toxic Mushrooms

EAST PALESTINE, Ohio (AP) — Tests were being conducted at United Canning Corp., here on a new filler machine believed to be the cause of the contamination of several thousand cans of mushrooms recalled earlier this month.

Plant Manager John E. Vecchione said an automatic filling machine prevented the contents of the cans from being totally sterilized when they were put in a pressure cooker designed to kill bacteria.

"Our theory is ... this machine packed the mushrooms into the can too tight. The mushrooms were so compact (in the can) that the heat did not go to the center of the can, just to the sides," he said.

He said the manufacturer of the filler, Solbern Co., of Fairfield, N.J., was contacted as soon as it was discovered.

The Food and Drug Administration announced the recall of the contaminated cans Feb. 17. Since then, some 80,000 cans have been recalled.

The FDA said the mushrooms contained clostridium botulinum type B, a relatively less potent strain of botulism, which also produces a foul odor.

The mushrooms, packaged in six-pound, nine-ounce cans, were distributed in Pennsylvania, Ohio, New York, Wisconsin and Illinois, the FDA said.

$4.8-Billion Rehabilitation Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Confident of enough strength to override another veto if necessary, the Senate has given overwhelming approval to a $4.8-billion vocational-rehabilitation bill that President Nixon rejected earlier. Wednesday's 86-2 vote sent the bill to the House where action is expected next week. The bill was the fourth of a dozen pocket-vetoes by Nixon last year that has re-passed the Senate.

Sponsors say it likely will be the first of the vetoed measures to reach the President's desk, probably in mid-March. They said they are confident Nixon can be overridden if he vetoes it again.

The House Education and Labor Committee approved its version of the legislation Tuesday.

On another front, Congress decided Wednesday not to battle any more with Nixon over two appropriations bills that still have not been passed for the current fiscal year which is two-thirds over.

Instead, it sent him an emergency resolution extending funding for the agencies covered by the bills through June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

One of the bills would allow the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor departments to continue spending at an annual rate of $29.8 billion. The President vetoed two versions of this last year. The other allows foreign-aid spending at a $1.5-billion rate.

The $4.8-billion measure cleared by the Senate Wednesday authorize money for four additional years for the 53-year-old vocational - rehabilitation program.

Which describes your feelings?

Yes___ No___ I could do more enjoyable things if I had the time.
Yes___ No___ I have a good occupation and my supervisors approve of my work, but personally, I'm not satisfied.
Yes___ No___ My realistic conception of an ideal life is very different from that which I'm living now.

Did at least one question apply to you? If so, it's quite possible that you're not getting the most out of life. Only you know the reasons, but whatever they are, God can help you.

Among many other things in the Bible, He promises freedom and a new life to those who sincerely seek it.

Why don't you come to church this Sunday and let Him know that you want to be free of your chains?

To live a half-life when a full life is available isn't really like you.

Is it?

$4.8-Billion Rehabilitation Bill Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Confident of enough strength to override another veto if necessary, the Senate has given overwhelming approval to a $4.8-billion vocational-rehabilitation bill that President Nixon rejected earlier.

Wednesday's 86-2 vote sent the bill to the House where action is expected next week. The bill was the fourth of a dozen pocket-vetoes by Nixon last year that has re-passed the Senate.

Sponsors say it likely will be the first of the vetoed measures to reach the President's desk, probably in mid-March. They said they are confident Nixon can be overridden if he vetoes it again.

The House Education and Labor Committee approved its version of the legislation Tuesday.

On another front, Congress decided Wednesday not to battle any more with Nixon over two appropriations bills that still have not been passed for the current fiscal year which is two-thirds over.

Instead, it sent him an emergency resolution extending funding for the agencies covered by the bills through June 30, the end of the fiscal year.

One of the bills would allow the Health, Education and Welfare and Labor departments to continue spending at an annual rate of $29.8 billion. The President vetoed two versions of this last year. The other allows foreign-aid spending at a $1.5-billion rate.

The $4.8-billion measure cleared by the Senate Wednesday authorize money for four additional years for the 53-year-old vocational - rehabilitation program.

Mental Health Organization
Discusses Plans

The Pickaway County Mental Health Assn. met recently at the sheltered workshop of the Pickaway County Program of Mental Retardation with Mrs. Clarence Willoughby presiding. A communication was read from the president of the Ohio association concerning importance of branch allocations. There was a discussion of future projects and programs.

Mrs. Lowell Toland, association representative of veterans service at Columbus State Hospital, read a message from the director of volunteer service expressing appreciation for the several contributions made possible during the holiday season by local groups and individuals.

Mention was made of gift and canteen fund aid to Pickaway County residents of other state institutions from the budgeted portion of the Community Fund allocation. Chaplain Konright elaborated on current policies, procedures and progressive features at Orient State Institute.

The next meeting will be March 26.

FFA Elects King
Queen, Officers

Elections were held for officers and FFA Queen at the Feb. 26 meeting of the Amanda-Clearcreek FFA.

President Tony McRay officiated at the session, which included reports by officers and discussion of land rental.

Named FFA Queen by vote of club members was Vicki Hedges. Rita Miller was runner-up in the competition.

An FFA king was also elected. Tony McRay was given this honor, a first for the club and for any FFA organization.

FFA officers for the coming year were given to:

Dean LaRue, president; George Noll, vice president; Jim Posey, secretary; Kenneth Parker, chaplain; Joel Spires, treasurer; Barry Picklesimer, sentinel; Larry Picklesimer, adviser and Chuck Imler, reporter.

After the meeting, refreshments were served.

Lancione Sets Longer Week For Ohio House

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Speaker A. G. Lancione has ordered a longer work week in the Ohio House in an effort to get bills moving, now that the legislature is in its third month with no major accomplishments to its credit.

Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said Thursday before weekend adjournment that the House will convene next Tuesday at 10:30 a.m., instead of the usual 1:30 p.m., to give committees the entire afternoon for hearings. He also said members should expect to remain through Thursday.

Man Loses Appeal
Over Kidnap Statute

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — James William Daulton, 29, has lost his appeal to the 6th U.S. Circuit Court challenging the constitutionality of the federal kidnap statute.

Daulton, of Cincinnati, was convicted of the charge last year in U.S. District Court. He was accused of kidnaping Alex Harstin of Sugar Grove in Scioto County in February, 1972, and forcing him to drive to Olive Hill, Ky., where Harstin was robbed of $100.

on Wednesdays in recent weeks, mostly because bills have not been ready for Thursday floor sessions. Lancione met with his committee chairmen to discuss how legislation might be speeded.

He and others of both parties reacted after a prolonged House debate on a minor bill Wednesday to regulate dealer name plates on automobiles.

"A bill like that usually would take five minutes at most. We don't have anything to do," complained Rep. Fred Hadley, R-79 Bryan, a House veteran.

Each house passed one bill, and 16 measures were introduced in the two chambers— among them a Gilligan administration bill to raise unemployment compensation benefits and another to require the teaching of minority group history in public schools.

Senators voted 25-1 to set up a nine-member state lottery commission to draft legislation for and implement a state lottery if voters approve of lifting a constitutional ban in the May primary. Sen. Richard G. Reichel, R-29 Massillon, cast the only dissenting vote, contending the legislature should await the decision of the people.

Across the Statehouse, freshman

Rep. Robert J. Boggs, D-17 Jefferson, won an impressive 81-0 vote on his first bill—a measure to allow joint vocational schools to absorb and fund special education units for mentally handicapped pupils.

The 24-year-old Pymatuning Junior High School coach told the House that while the bill provides no additional

Patrick Nugent

Rejoins Company

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Patrick J. Nugent, son-in-law of the late former President Lyndon Johnson, has rejoined Texas Broadcasting Corp. as an executive.

Nugent, who married Luci Baines Johnson, formerly was employed by Texas Broadcasting, then recently served as an officer of Communications Properties Inc. of Austin, a national cable television and communications firm. He also is a director of the Capital National Bank of Austin.

Texas Broadcasting owns and operates KTBC-AM-FM-TV, Muzak, Photo Processors and has a 50 per cent interest in Capital Cable Co. of Austin, according to J.C. Kellan, TBC president.

funds for this type of special education, it will strengthen an area of education long neglected by Ohio school districts.

Boggs said last year, under the state Division of Special Education, 60478 pupils were involved in programs geared primarily toward work training. Of these, he said, 3,000 worked outside the classroom, earned more than $5 million in wages, and paid $282,000 in federal income tax. They paid more than $50,000 in state sales tax, he said, indicating their "potential worth" as productive members of society.

The new bills would require free rest rooms in all public places, prohibit the tearing down of the Statehouse annex and provide that it be used as both an office building and memorial, and raise the pay of state employees while, at the same time, designating a Martin Luther King holiday on Jan. 15.

Rep. Richard L. Wittenberg, D-44 Toledo, introduced a bill in the House to lower the so-called "age of majority" from 21 to 18 to conform with voting rights already given that age group. Wittenberg's bill goes further than a similar measure pending in the Senate by including the right to buy and drink alcoholic beverages. His bill would provide programs to educate young people about alcohol.

Appoint Watchdog
For Cathedral

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A retired Cleveland businessman has been named to oversee financial operations of the Akron-based Cathedral of Tomorrow, Inc.

The agreement was reached Thursday in Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court during a brief hearing on a securities law violation suit brought by the state against the Cathedral.

Visiting Judge Paul Riley specified in issuing a preliminary injunction, however, that L. R. Manning would serve primarily as a watchdog in the position and that he was not expected to be in charge of Cathedral operations.

Hospital Business Good; Accreditation Survey Set

Berger Hospital's administrator John Reid announced record hospital business for the month of January. At the meeting of the board Wednesday, Reid informed members that January's occupancy figure has risen to 89 per cent, the highest ever recorded at the hospital.

There was light discussion about the new wing to be built at the rear of the

Mayor's Auto Put To Torch

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Mayor Ralph Perk's leased Lincoln Continental, which was reported stolen Wednesday night, was found burning late Thursday night on an East Side street.

Firemen said someone apparently had doused the $8,400 limousine with gasoline and set it afire near the Broadway-Miles intersection. There was no indication that any of the expensive equipment—including police radios, telephone and a public address system—was stripped from the car before it was torched.

A nationwide alert had been issued for the car, which had only 700 miles on the speedometer, after the mayor's driver, Detective James McHugh, reported the car stolen from a parking lot behind a shopping center in suburban South Euclid.

Movie Director 'Wanted' In U.S.

ROME (AP)— Bernardo Bertolucci, the director of "Last Tango in Paris," says ladies in both Italy and the United States are pressing for his company since his movie made him famous.

American women, he says, "have courted me with embarrassing insistence, with ferociousness," and in Rome "ladies I never met" want to spend an evening with him.

The 32-year-old Roman, in an interview Thursday in Turin's newspaper, La Stampa, said there will be little sex in his next movie, which he said will be something like "Gone with the Wind."

Police Probing Escape From Jail

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Police Chief Edward "Buz" Gugel wants to know how eight hacksaw blades were smuggled into the jail and how it was that no one heard four prisoners sawing for four days before they escaped. Gugel said eight prisoners were moved to the top floor Friday from the second floor because of painting.

He said the four prisoners who did not participate, said the men started sawing the steel plate ceiling Sunday night. They escaped Wednesday night through the roof and remain at large.

current hospital building which will house surgical, emergency, radiology, laboratory and central supply facilities.

Hospital staff has experienced a need for more space in all areas, but the emergency room demonstrates this need. Over 9,100 persons received treatment in emergency in 1972. In January, emergency room visits were 873, compared to 731 in January a year ago.

Reid noted that some core samples were taken of the soil earlier this week at the building site.

The administrator also announced the resignation of the Director of Nursing, Tom Blaney, who has accepted employment at a hospital in Marion. No replacement has yet been found.

Berger Hospital is also due for a survey for accreditation again. Reid has been notified by the Joint Commission for Accreditation that the two years approval will terminate in August. Preliminary paper work is now underway and a hospital survey will be scheduled later this year by the commission to determine the hospital's status for continued accreditation.

New AEC Chief Forced To Move

FREDERICK, Md. (AP) — Dixy Lee Ray, the new chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, is going to have to move because her motor home violates a Frederick County ordinance.

Dr. Ray lives in a 28-foot self-contained motor home on a dairy farm here and uses the farm's power lines and occasionally its water.

J. Alfred Cutsail, county zoning administrator, said Thursday the owners of the farm had been sent a letter saying county laws make it illegal to live in a motor home in the county.

Dr. Ray said she was not disturbed because she had planned to move anyway "within a matter of weeks."

Jazz Trumpeter Fined By Court

NEW YORK (AP) — Jazz trumpeter Miles Davis has been fined $1,000 after pleading guilty to a charge of illegal possession of a weapon.

Davis, 47, was arrested Feb. 23 after police responding to a disturbance inside an apartment building said they found the musician standing outside an apartment with a key in the door.

Inside, police said, they confiscated a small handgun and three foil envelopes containing cocaine. A woman companion was also arrested, but the charges against her were dismissed.

Davis, who was initially charged with weapon and drug possession, was fined Thursday.

Ohio Families Await New POWs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I'll only believe it when I touch him," Suzanne Wideman of Lakewood said Thursday after learning her prisoner of war son, Navy Lt. Robert E. Wideman, finally is coming home.

Mrs. Wideman's caution was typical of relatives of Ohioans on the list of POWs to be released by North Vietnam over the weekend.

All relatives naturally were concerned when the Communists earlier this week held up the POW release.

But for Mrs. Wideman it was a second setback. Her son was bumped off a flight of returning prisoners last month to make room for another POW with an emergency in his family.

"These past four weeks have been something I'd never want to repeat," Mrs. Wideman said.

"I'm not going to say anything. I'm going to look at him and then give him a great big hug."

Wideman was shot down in 1967. He will be going to a hospital in Philadelphia, since his wife, Patricia, lives in Drexel Hill, Pa. His mother said she and deman's father and brother, who live in Florida, will go to Philadelphia to greet the lieutenant.

Mary Baugh of Piqua, wife of another returning POW, Air Force Maj. William J. Baugh, didn't want to say much until her husband is on his way home.

Ex-U2 Pilot Broadcasts Traffic Data

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The U.S. pilot whose name became a household word after his U2 spy plane was shot down over Russia in 1960 says he gets a touch of "stage fright" when he flies his Cessna Cardinal over the maze of Southern California freeways.

Francis Gary Powers, a former Central Intelligence Agency pilot, now reports freeway traffic conditions at least four times an hour from 3,000 feet for radio station KGIL.

Powers said in a recent interview that, although talking to an audience of thousands can be alarming, it is nothing compared to a CIA mission.

Thirteen years ago, Powers was 12 nautical miles inside the Soviet Union when something exploded beneath his U2. "My God, I've had it now," he remembers saying.

As the jet went into a twisting dive, he managed to pull himself from the cockpit and parachute to earth, almost landing on a Russian farmer.

The incident caused an East-West furor and resulted in the breakup of the 1960 Big Four summit meeting in Paris. Powers was tried and convicted in a Soviet court on espionage charges. He served 21 months in Soviet prisons before being exchanged for master spy Rudolf Abel.

Powers returned to the United States, resumed being a test pilot and wrote a book about the U2 incident, "Operation Overflight." He took the radio job in 1970.

Cincinnati Employees Approve New Pact

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The 4,000 non-uniformed employees of Cincinnati Thursday night approved a 22-month contract.

The contract provides a 5.3 per cent raise this year and another 5.3 per cent hike March 1, 1974.

"I'm really trying to hold myself in for awhile," she said. "There have been too many ups and downs."

Her husband was shot down in January, 1967, during a combat mission over North Vietnam. Besides the wife and four children, Baugh's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Baugh, reside in Piqua.

In Akron, Betty Cordier, mother of Air Force Maj. Kenneth W. Cordier, said she was "thrilled" at the news her son is returning.

"It's pure joy, that's all I can say," she exclaimed. "I'll just be so glad to see him I don't know what I'll do or say."

Mrs. Cordier said her son was reported missing in action in the spring of 1970.

She said the family received brief letters from him in September, 1970, and December, 1971.

Another returning POW, Navy Lt.

Cmdr. Charles D. Stackhouse, is a native of Norwood, near Cincinnati, but his mother now lives in Lemoore, Calif., in a house bought by her son.

Statehood Day Celebrants Hear Gilligan

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan, here Thursday for Statehood Day activities in Ohio's first capital, described President Nixon's second-stage revenue-sharing plan a "pig in a poke."

Meeting with newsmen before speaking at Chillicothe High School, Gilligan explained the action of Democratic chief executives in coming out against Nixon's plan during the Midwinter National Governors' Conference in Washington.

Gilligan said the governors are not sure what the program will be. He said the administration needs to provide the states more information.

During his speech at Ohio's 170th anniversary celebration, Gilligan called on citizens to speak up for those things they believe will improve their state, and added, "I have asked state government to listen."

The governor coined the theme, "let's hear it for Ohio," and said it should encourage Ohioans to give their comments and suggestions on what they like about the state and what can be done to improve areas of concern.

Statehood Day activities continue through Sunday, with Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, speaking that evening during a prayer service.

Radio, Television Take Up Idea Of 'Action Line' Service

By BILLO'SHEA
Associated Press Writer

"Action Line" reader-service columns—by now popular and effective features in newspapers around the country—are spreading to radio and television in the age of consumerism.

The clout of the media gets results for consumers frustrated by big business, big government, snarled computers and customers' own ignorance of available services.

"Basically companies and government agencies don't like their errors known, so they correct them when we call them to their attention," Steve Guerber says of the "Action Post" column he edits in the Idaho Statesman.

Many newspapers began action lines in the 1960's, and positive reader response has prompted expanded coverage. The Detroit News' "Contact 10" draws some 200 letters and 750 phone calls a day. Jim Lycett heads a staff of 11, including eight writer-researchers and three secretaries.

Lycett says 70 per cent of readers' complaints involve consumer matters and he feels the column will be around forever.

"No amount of consumer legislation is going to eliminate the hustlers. They'll always be with us. And the government will always be screwed up. We'll never eliminate that," he says.

Broadcast action lines have burgeoned along with consumer awareness in the past few years.

San Francisco's "Action 7" began less than a year ago with commercial spots showing KGO-TV's newsmen John Brian wearing a Superman outfit as an attention getter.

In Minneapolis, WCCO-TV's "Action News" competes with and often beats the ratings of the Tonight Show with Johnny Carson, according to news director Ron Handberg.

The "Action 7" feature on Chicago's WLS-TV is not quite two years old but already receives over 1,000 inquiries a week. Associate producer Deana Nadeau says she and her staff of four try to answer each one.

The Washington Evening Star-Daily News devotes about 14 columns of space a week to its action line column, and feature editor Daniel Poole estimates it costs at least $60,000-$70,000 a year.

Not everyone likes the action line concept. The Atlanta Constitution recently discontinued it after three years, concluding that it was answering the same questions and the same people over and over again.

Ask Court To Approve Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has asked the Supreme Court to let members of Congress remain in the armed forces reserves.

The reserve status given some senators and representatives makes them little more than civilians in any event, the government told the court in a petition Thursday.

In 1971, U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell ruled that a constitutional provision barring members of Congress from holding any other office "under the United States" blocks reserve status for congressmen.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upheld the decision and the government, after receiving an extension of time from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, has asked for a high-court hearing.

The suit that prompted the decision was brought by the Reservists Committee to Stop the War, a group opposing the Indochina conflict.

The reserve membership of a number of congressmen, they maintained, deprived them of "the unbiased consideration by the Congress" of military matters.

Peanuts Seized; Said Contaminated

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The federal government has seized 13,000 pounds of peanuts here from two Suffolk, Va., firms.

Norbert A. Nadel, first assistant U.S. Attorney, who signed the order, said the peanuts contained rodent contamination and rodent nesting material.

The peanuts were seized at the F.W. Hinz and Sons Co. here.

Hinz imported the material from Keystone Peanuts Lummis and Co., a division of U.S. Tob. Co. and A-1 Virginia Peanuts, Pond Brothers Peanut Co., Inc., both of Suffolk, Va., Nadel said.

Grand Jury Eyes Case Of Irate Ohio Motorist

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — John L. Bottles, 26, of Hamilton, Ohio, today awaited grand jury action for allegedly driving his new station wagon through a car dealer's service door because he considered the auto a lemon.

Bottles, charged with malicious destruction of property, appeared in Hamilton County Municipal Court Thursday.

Walter Sweeney, of Walt and Jake Sweeney Chevrolet, testified that Bottles had telephoned him, threatening "to shoot me" because of what he considered defects and poor service on his 1972 Chevrolet Vega station wagon.

The car was found parked inside the building by the service desk Feb. 5.

Radio, Television Take Up Idea Of 'Action Line' Service

By BILL O'SHEA
Associated Press Writer

"Action Line" reader-service columns—by now popular and effective features in newspapers around the country—are spreading to radio and television in the age of consumerism.

The clout of the media gets results for consumers frustrated by big business, big government, snarled computers and customers' own ignorance of available services.

"Basically companies and government agencies don't like their errors known, so they correct them when we call them to their attention," Steve Guerber says of the "Action Post" column he edits in the Idaho Statesman.

Many newspapers began action lines in the 1960's, and positive reader response has prompted expanded coverage. The Detroit News' "Contact 10" draws some 200 letters and 750 phone calls a day. Jim Lycett heads a staff of 11, including eight writer-researchers and three secretaries.

Lycett says 70 per cent of readers' complaints involve consumer matters and he feels the column will be around forever.

"No amount of consumer legislation is going to eliminate the hustlers. They'll always be with us. And the government will always be screwed up. We'll never eliminate that," he says.

Broadcast action lines have burgeoned along with consumer awareness in the past few years.

San Francisco's "Action 7" began less than a year ago with commercial spots showing KGO-TV's newsmen John Brian wearing a Superman outfit as an attention getter.

In Minneapolis, WCCO-TV's "Action News" competes with and often beats the ratings of the Tonight Show with Johnny Carson, according to news director Ron Handberg.

The "Action 7" feature on Chicago's WLS-TV is not quite two years old but already receives over 1,000 inquiries a week. Associate producer Deana Nadeau says she and her staff of four try to answer each one.

The Washington Evening Star-Daily News devotes about 14 columns of space a week to its action line column, and feature editor Daniel Poole estimates it costs at least $60,000-$70,000 a year.

Not everyone likes the action line concept. The Atlanta Constitution recently discontinued it after three years, concluding that it was answering the same questions and the same people over and over again.

Ask Court To Approve Reservists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has asked the Supreme Court to let members of Congress remain in the armed forces reserves.

The reserve status gives some senators and representatives makes them little more than civilians in any event, the government told the court in a petition Thursday.

In 1971, U.S. District Court Judge Gerhard A. Gesell ruled that a constitutional provision barring members of Congress from holding any other office "under the United States" blocks reserve status for congressmen.

The U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia upheld the decision and the government, after receiving an extension of time from Chief Justice Warren E. Burger, has asked for a high-court hearing.

The suit that prompted the decision was brought by the Reservists Committee to Stop the War, a group opposing the Indochina conflict.

The reserve membership of a number of congressmen, they maintained, deprived them of "the unbiased consideration by the Congress" of military matters.

Peanuts Seized; Said Contaminated

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The federal government has seized 13,000 pounds of peanuts here from two Suffolk, Va., firms.

Norbert A. Nadel, first assistant U.S. Attorney, who signed the order, said the peanuts contained rodent contamination and rodent nesting material.

The peanuts were seized at the F.W. Hinz and Sons Co. here.

Hinz imported the material from Keystone Peanuts Lummis and Co., a division of U.S. Tob. Co. and A-1 Virginia Peanuts, Pond Brothers Peanut Co., Inc., both of Suffolk, Va., Nadel said.

Grand Jury Eyes Case Of Irate Ohio Motorist

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — John L. Bottles, 26, of Hamilton, Ohio, today awaited grand jury action for allegedly driving his new station wagon through a car dealer's service door because he considered the auto a lemon.

Bottles, charged with malicious destruction of property, appeared in Hamilton County Municipal Court Thursday.

Walter Sweeney, of Walt and Jake Sweeney Chevrolet, testified that Bottles had telephoned him, threatening "to shoot me" because of what he considered defects and poor service on his 1972 Chevrolet Vega station wagon.

The car was found parked inside the building by the service desk Feb. 5.

Ohio Woman Killed

WINCHESTER, Ind. (AP) — Elazabeth Altaffer, 64, of Montpelier, Ohio, was killed Thursday in a two-car collision at a rural intersection near here.

The Red and Black

Three Seniors Ending Career As High School Cheerleaders

BY PAT CURRIE

"We want to cheer at the coliseum." That is the unanimous statement of all the girls on the varsity cheerleading squad at CHS. This week, the Red and Black would like to honor these seven attractive girls for the great job they have done this year.

The squad, under the direction of their new adviser, Miss Dee Grandstaff, and their veteran cheerleader captain, Patty Ankrom, practice for about two hours a week. This preparation always shows them in excellent form at the CHS games, both at home and away.

Patty Ankrom, an 18-year old senior, has six years of cheering experience behind her. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ankrom, 130 Crites Road.

Along with her position as cheerleading captain, Patty is active in GAA, EMS and NHS. About cheering the attractive brunette says, "I've had lots of fun cheering, especially this year, and I'll miss it when I graduate."

Jane Guenther, another senior on the varsity squad, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Guenther, 356 Northridge Road. Jane has been cheering for three years and says, "I hope that the girls who get it in the future enjoy cheerleading and appreciate it as much as I have."

Student Council and GAA are some of the other activities she is involved in.

The last senior on the squad, but certainly not the least, is Connie Fausnaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fausnaugh, 185 Hillcrest Drive. Connie also has three years of experience and about it she says, "It's been a great experience cheering for CHS."

Connie is in GAA and is also on the Student Relations committee of Student Council.

Susan Estes, a junior, lives at 605 Ridgewood with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Estes. This pretty blonde is an active member of GAA and EMS and was the first one to put the whole squad's feelings into words with, "We want to cheer at the coliseum."

With three years of cheering behind her, Suzy Kaylor, the daughter of Mrs. Harriet Kaylor says, "It's fun — you get to meet a lot of people. Everyone should try it." Suzy, who was sidelined for a while with two broken toes, is also active in GAA.

Cindy Sims lives at 404 E. Union St. with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sims. Also active in GAA, she says, "I hope the team gets the county championship."

Last but not least is junior Ann Yates, a five-year veteran. Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Yates, 126 E. Mound St., is the assistant editor of the annual; was in the Junior Class play "F.L.I.P.P.E.D." and belongs to Latin Club and GAA.

She attributes a lot of the spirit at games to certain individuals who always come to watch the Tigers and says, "I like cheering and I don't know what I'd do without it, really."

Also to be congratulated for a fine job are CHS's reserve cheerleaders, Sue Radabaugh, Vicki Marshall, Cathy Royster, Nancy Guenther, Karen Baker, and Carla Rihl.

College Aid Discussed In Booklet

Financing two or four years of higher education is a staggering prospect for many American students and their parents—for some, it seems to be the impossible dream.

Yet, each year hundreds of thousands of families receive help toward meeting college expenses. There is more aid available than most people realize, but one has to know where and how to look for it.

"Meeting College Costs in 1973-74" is a new booklet prepared by the College Scholarship Service (CSS) of the College Board to help families think ahead about the problem of paying for college and understand how to go about applying for financial aid.

The booklet deals with some very basic, yet essential questions: where to find information about the cost of college today, how much colleges expect students and parents to pay, how the CSS analyzes the Parents Confidential Statement (PCS), how colleges award financial aid, what kind of aid is available from what sources, and how to apply for financial aid.

Students who plan to go to college and think they may need financial aid can obtain a copy of Meeting College Costs from school counselors and community agencies or from the College Board by writing to College Scholarship Service, College Entrance Examination Board, Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey 08540 or the nearest College Board regional office which is: Midwestern Regional Office, College Entrance Examination Board, 990 Grove Street, Evanston, Illinois 60201, phone: (312) 869-1840.

FINAL CHEERS — Senior cheerleaders Patty Ankrom, Janie Guenther and Connie Fausnaugh are nearing the end of their junior high and high school cheering careers. The end of Circleville's basketball tournament schedule will mark the end of their cheering activities.

Committees Serve CHS

This week the Red and Black staff would like to put the spotlight on five Student Council committees: Homecoming, Projects, Publicity, Election, and Assembly.

This year's homecoming chairman was Ann Myers, who filled in on the spur of the moment when Donna Caughron moved. Aiding her in planning the snake walk, bonfire and dance were Debbie McCauley and Burt Keener. This committee has a once-a-year job but its members still remain an active part of Student Council.

Project's committee's job, as the name implies is to plan projects — either money-making ones or ones for the benefit of the student body. The tricycle race, spirit links, Pumpkin Show booth, Most Beautiful Legs Contest and Toys for Tots drive were all carried out by this committee whose chairman is Debbie Brian and co-chairmen are Cathy Nelson and Pam Sellers.

Making posters takes a lot of Janet Helwag's time, as she is chairman of the Publicity committee. R. N. Phillips and Ann Myers are her assistant poster makers. So far this year signs have been made to advertise Homecoming, pumpkin ice cream, the informal dance after a football game, Toys for Tots Drive, and the Carefree Gun project.

Tim Burns, with the help of June Brudzinski and J. C. Timberlake, organizes all elections which concern the whole student body.

Class officers, Student Council officers and homeroom representatives, Homecoming queens and Pumpkin Show queen candidates election are all carried out by the Election committee. They also work on any surveys Student Council asks them to such as the questionnaire on what type of dance the students want.

Assemblies chairman this year is Mike Logan and co-chairmen are Bill Culbertson and Dennis Huston. So far this year they have planned the Christmas assembly. Scheduling assemblies is a hard job since they must meet with the approval of both Mr. Sarchet and Mr. Jacobs.

Committees are the backbone of Student Council. New chairmen and co-chairmen will be chosen this spring for the 1973-74 school year.

TOM HAMILTON

Breegle, Latin and mythology teacher at CHS, decided to have those students who were interested take the test given by the American Association of Teachers of Esperanto. This test is usually given after the first year of study, but Mrs. Breegle felt the students were ready for it.

Nine students took the test and passed it, and they all received certificates of award. They were Terry Brown, Terri Griffith, Tina Groves, Tom Hamilton, Jack Lauderdale, Cynthia Pike, Elizabeth Shollenberger, Vivian Tatman and Steve Watters. Tom Hamilton and Elizabeth Shollenberger received certificates "with distinction."

Basketball Team Wrapping Up Year

The Circleville Tigers 1972-73 basketball team wrapped up its most successful season with a fine 14-4 record. This included a 7-3 league record which earned a share of the SCOL title with Miami Trace. The Tigers home record was 7-2 as well as a 7-2 road record.

The first tournament game was against county rival Logan Elm which was the two team's first meeting. The Tigers prevailed 60-57 as senior forward, Greg Hoskins played his finest high school game. He scored 24 points and grabbed 13 rebounds. Tom Sykes lead the Braves with 22 points.

The Tigers next game is against the Teays Valley Vikings, the other big county rival. In the two earlier games they have both won one. In the first game the Tigers won 73-66. The second was captured by the Vikings 65-60. This game shapes up to be an evenly matched contest as both teams will battle to be sectional champs.

Van Gundy Ranks As Test Finalist

Another first for CHS! Jeff Van Gundy has been notified that he is one of the finalists in the 26th Annual Ohio University American History Contest.

Out of 12,000 senior high students in the state, he is among the top scorers from each county who are eligible to take the final exam this afternoon at OU.

In addition to being an all-expense paid guest of the University this weekend, Jeff now has a chance at the following awards: first prize—tuition scholarship to OU; second—$100; third—$75; fourth—$50; fifth through tenth—$20.

Tom Frericks Is Selected All-American

By MARCIA PLESCIA

Circleville High School has one of Scholastic magazine's All-American High School football players.

The Red and Black's senior tackle, 6-foot 5-inch, 230-pounder Tom Frericks made the magazines' 1972 high school football all-American team!

The Scholastic looks everywhere for the best 100 players whom they call "super kids."

This year's all-Americans came from 39 states. Ohio, Pennsylvania, Texas and California rank first with seven players each.

Other college and pro stars which have appeared on this list as high school greats in previous years are Bob Griese, Billy Kilmer, Joe Namath, Dick Butkus, John Brockington, Johnny Rogers, Anthony Davis and Sam Cunningham.

The Red and Black staff would like to congratulate Tom on being chosen one of the best linemen in the nation.

JOY MILLER
Jr. High English

By TERESA MALLETT

Joy Miller teaches ninth grade English at CJHS. She is originally from Middleburg Heights in Cleveland, but she now resides at 151 Lewis Ave.

Joy attended OU where she received her Bachelor of Science in Communication degree. Activities she was involved in at college were the OU Choir, Women's Glee Club, and Residence Life Staff.

This is Joy's first year of teaching and she believes it is important for a teacher to present the subject matter in a relevant and interesting manner. She enjoys her work very much and feels that teaching is a great challenge.

Joy's hobbies include reading, music, cooking and baking.

Looking Back At Red, Black

The annual was dedicated to Mr. Roy Stout.

The school board introduced a new physical education program for girls.

Richard Willoughby was Junior Class president.

President of SOS was Patricia Metzger.

"Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" was the Junior Class play.

SALUTE TO PLAYERS — These seniors, throughout their three years of high school, have recorded a 43-15 win-lose record for Circleville, which includes one SCOL championship. Shown in front are: Dave Truex, Tim Burns, Dan Graham and Greg Hoskins. Standing behind are Steve Allen and Glen Gillespie.

This week the Red and Black Staff is honoring the senior members of the Varsity basketball team. Through their three years of high school, these athletes have compiled an impressive 43-15 win-lose record which includes one SCOL championship.

Dave Truex is the only member to have played three years of Varsity basketball. Through those years he has averaged 17.5 points per game. He has been the defensive stopper playing forward and has come through in many clutch situations. Dave is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Truex.

Dan Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Graham, is center and third leading rebounder. Though only 6-foot 1-inch tall, he does a great job inside for the Tigers by using quickness and finesse against the usually taller opponents. Dan's fine work paid off this year as he was recently named to the

All-SCOL second team.

Next is Greg Hoskins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hoskins. Greg has had a great year and is currently second in rebounding and third in scoring. In the opening game of the sectional tournament against Logan Elm, Greg exploded for 24 points and 13 rebounds.

Glen Gillespie, son of Mr. and Mrs. David B. Gillespie, is a guard and returning letterman. Glen has started many games this year and does a good job running the Tiger offense.

Steve Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allen, is also a guard. Steve is a hard worker and is a valuable part of the team.

Finally, Tim Burns, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Burns, is a big, strong forward who plays tough inside on the boards.

CYNTHIA FARMER

An employee of Buckeye Mart, Cvnthia Farmer is this week's featured DECA student.

She lives at 340 Nicholas Drive with her parents Mrs. and Mrs. Harold Farmer and sister Jodi and Kim.

Cynthia was notified of the job opening by Mrs. Greenwood and was hired after a personal interview. Under Charles Downing, she works 25 to 30 hours per week in the shoe department as a sales person, where she stocks shelves, keeps merchandise in order and helps customers with shoe fittings and selections.

Cynthia commented about her job, "I meet the public and learn to get along with all kinds of people." She also feels that being employed at Buckeye Mart has enabled her to discuss various topics more easily with other people.

After graduation Cynthia plans to continue her present job. Some of her other interests including horseback riding, swimming and bowling.

Three Seniors Ending Career As High School Cheerleaders

BY PAT CURRIE

"We want to cheer at the coliseum." That is the unanimous statement of all the girls on the varsity cheerleading squad at CHS. This week, the Red and Black would like to honor these seven attractive girls for the great job they have done this year.

The squad, under the direction of their new adviser, Miss Dee Grandstaff, and their veteran cheerleader captain, Patty Ankrom, practice for about two hours a week. This preparation always shows them in excellent form at the CHS games, both at home and away.

Patty Ankrom, an 18-year old senior, has six years of cheering experience behind her. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Ankrom, 130 Crites Road.

Along with her position as cheerleading captain, Patty is active in GAA, EMS and NHS. About cheering the attractive brunette says, "I've had lots of fun cheering, especially this year, and I'll miss it when I graduate."

Jane Guenther, another senior on the varsity squad, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Guenther, 356 Northridge Road. Jane has been cheering for three years and says, "I hope that the girls who get it in the future enjoy cheerleading and appreciate it as much as I have."

Student Council and GAA are some of the other activities she is involved in.

The last senior on the squad, but certainly not the least, is Connie Fausnaugh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fausnaugh, 185 Hillcrest Drive. Connie also has three years of experience and about it she says, "It's been a great experience cheering for CHS."

Connie is in GAA and is also on the Student Relations committee of Student Council.

Susan Estes, a junior, lives at 605 Ridgewood with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Frank Estes. This pretty blonde is an active member of GAA and EMS and was the first one to put the whole squad's feelings into words with, "We want to cheer at the coliseum."

With three years of cheering behind her, Suzy Kaylor, the daughter of Mrs. Harriet Kaylor says, "It's fun — you get to meet a lot of people. Everyone should try it." Suzy, who was sidelined for a while with two broken toes, is also active in GAA.

Cindy Sims lives at 404 E. Union St. with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sims. Also active in GAA, she says, "I hope the team gets the county championship."

Last but not least is junior Ann Yates, a five-year veteran. Ann, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Yates, 126 E. Mound St., is the assistant editor of the annual; was in the Junior Class play "F.L.I.P.P.E.D." and belongs to Latin Club and GAA.

She attributes a lot of the spirit at games to certain individuals who always come to watch the Tigers and says, "I like cheering and I don't know what I'd do without it, really."

Also to be congratulated for a fine job are CHS's reserve cheerleaders, Sue Radabaugh, Vicki Marshall, Cathy Royster, Nancy Guenther, Karen Baker, and Carla Rihl.

College Aid Discussed In Booklet

Financing two or four years of higher education is a staggering prospect for many American students and their parents—for some, it seems to be the impossible dream.

Yet, each year hundreds of thousands of families receive help toward meeting college expenses. There is more aid available than most people realize, but one has to know where and how to look for it.

"Meeting College Costs in 1973-74" is a new booklet prepared by the College Scholarship Service (CSS) of the College Board to help families think ahead about the problem of paying for college and understand how to go about applying for financial aid.

The booklet deals with some very basic, yet essential questions: where to find information about the cost of college today, how much colleges expect students and parents to pay, how the CSS analyzes the Parents Confidential Statement (PCS), how colleges award financial aid, what kind of aid is available from what sources, and how to apply for financial aid.

Students who plan to go to college and think they may need financial aid can obtain a copy of Meeting College Costs from school counselors and community agencies or from the College Board by writing to College Scholarship Service, College Entrance Examination Board, Box 176, Princeton, New Jersey 08540 or the nearest College Board regional office which is: Midwestern Regional Office, College Entrance Examination Board, 990 Grove Street, Evanston, Illinois 60201, phone: (312) 869-1840.

FINAL CHEERS — Senior cheerleaders Patty Ankrom, Janie Guenther and Connie Fausnaugh are nearing the end of their junior high and high school cheering careers. The end of Circleville's basketball tournament schedule will mark the end of their cheering activities.

Wrestlers Show Well In Tourney

By DON GOELLER

Six Tiger matmen, after a fine showing in the sectional tournament last week in Marysville, head for DeSales High School tomorrow to compete in the district.

Dave Webb, Hoss Payne, Gary Mogan, and Tom Frericks all come up with first place finishes to advance, while Ben McDaniel and Tom Wilkinson chalked up thirds for the right to move on.

Steve Watters, another of the fine wrestlers, re-injured his shoulder in the semi-final matches and could not compete in the sectional finals.

As a team, the Tigers placed second to Olentangy, even though some of the grapplers did not fare as well as expected.

Season records for the District-bound men are as follows: McDaniel, 105-pound 12-10, Webb, 132 pound, 21-1, Payne, 138 pound, 15-5-1, Mogan, 167 pound, 15-2, Wilkinson, 185-pound, 8-11, and Frericks, Heavyweight, 22-0.

Matches start at 1 p.m. with the finals being held at 7 p.m. All Tiger fans are invited and urged to attend.

Need Awareness To Recognize Life

By DEBBIE RADABAUGH

"Only that day dawns to which we are awake," stated Henry David Thoreau.

The world is full of good things, but how often is it that we notice these good things? People are constantly hustling and bustling about, too busy to take a moment to really look at life, or not really caring.

There is more to life than making a buck, or getting ahead at the office, or worrying about which party to attend this weekend. There is more to life than jealousy, envy and greed.

There is more to life than life itself. It goes beyond living, beyond existing, beyond surviving. There is love, there is happiness, there is caring. Look around you. Someone needs to be loved, to be cared for.

But some happiness in someone's life; in your life. "All that we love deeply becomes a part of us," and a part of us is a part of life.

On Books And Activities At The Library

"Step-by-Step Rugmaking" by Neil Znamierowski offers a variety of rug techniques such as embroidery, latch hook, crochet, knitting, braiding, hooking, and weaving. Some of these techniques are quite simple, use inexpensive materials, and tools, yet produced a finished product that is beautiful as well as useful. In addition to the techniques, the author discusses the sources of design inspiration, materials, tools, finishing, and care and cleaning of handmade rugs. A bibliography for further reading is included, as well as a list of suppliers, and a partial list of schools and workshops that offer courses in rugmaking.

Books for hobbyists are very popular. Often it is difficult for the craftsman or hobbyist to find exactly what he is looking for. Do not overlook magazines. In many instances, magazines provide more up to the minute information than books. Stereo and record fans can find news about music and musicians, equipment reports, record reviews, and a special section on tape recording in the March 1973 "High Fidelity" magazine. "Popular Electronics" and Radio-Electronics" both have information about speaker systems, solid state, tapes, recording, TV troubleshooting, etc. The emphasis in this month's "Popular Mechanics" is on motor camping - new models, new conveniences. "Popular Photography" addresses itself to the camera bug.

Those who enjoy the outdoors and sports may choose "Guns & Ammo," "Field and Stream," "Outdoor Life," "Sports Illustrated," "Western Horseman," "Hot Rod," "Car & Driver," "Cycle" "Flying," or "Aviation Week & Space Technology." Other magazines geared to the hobbyist with special interests include "Art News," "Design," and "Dramatics," an educational magazine for directors, teachers and students of theater arts. Except for the current issue, magazines may be checked out for seven days. Specific articles on a subject may be located through use of "The Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature." If you need help in locating an article, ask one of the librarians.

Newspapers too are a valuable source of information. The library receives the two Columbus Daily newspapers, the Circleville Herald, the Williamsport News, the National Observer, and the Wall Street Journal - and don't overlook the national weekly news magazines. We are open from nine to nine Monday through Thursday, and nine to five on Fridays and Saturdays, so drop in to browse a little, or read a lot.

Mystery and suspense fans will be interested in Earle Stanley Gardner's "The Case of the Postponed Murder." Perry Mason stars in this suspenseful mystery where forgery leads to murder. Red herrings and courtroom tactics set the scene for this last of the Perry Mason mysteries. In the "95 File" by James E. Martin, a clever thief seems to know police methods and continues to get away successfully - until he murders a cop in the process.

Jack Fenner, a Boston private eye, is hired to find a body guard for an heiress in "Silent Witness" by George Harmon Cox. In his search, he finds two crowses, a family feud, and a touch of organized crime.

In June Goodfield's "Courier to Peking," Andrew Tanyard uses his scientific knowledge in determining how the U.S. Government has conned him into smuggling a secret message to the Peking government. Young Lena Doyle intends to bring in an oil well alone if need be - or with the help of her long absent father, suddenly returned in "Oklahoma Crude" by Marc Norman. "Wise Guy, Solomon" collects recent writings by Israeli humorist, Ephraim Kishon, including his off Broadway play writing venture.

Lenin's Name On Party Card

MOSCOW (AP) - Lenin's name was inscribed on Card No. 1 today as the Soviet Communist party began an exchange of membership cards. It is the first general purge of the country's elite in 19 years.

For two years the qualifications of the 14,455,321 members will be scrutinized, and a certain number will be weeded out as unfit to belong. Investigating committees have been set up to examine members' "everyday behavior, ideological, political and professional standards."

Pravda said Lenin's name went on the first card because he was the "first Communist of the epoch."

Wrestlers Show Well In Tourney

By DON GOELLER

Six Tiger matmen, after a fine showing in the sectional tournament last week in Marysville, head for DeSales High School tomorrow to compete in the district.

Dave Webb, Hoss Payne, Gary Mogan, and Tom Frericks all come up with first place finishes to advance, while Ben McDaniel and Tom Wilkinson chalked up thirds for the right to move on.

Steve Watters, another of the fine wrestlers, re-injured his shoulder in the semi-final matches and could not compete in the sectional finals.

As a team, the Tigers placed second to Olentangy, even though some of the grapplers did not fare as well as expected.

Season records for the District-bound men are as follows: McDaniel, 105-pound 12-10, Webb, 132 pound, 21-1, Payne, 138 pound, 15-5-1, Mogan, 167 pound, 15-2, Wilkinson, 185-pound, 8-11, and Frericks, Heavyweight, 22-0.

Matches start at 1 p.m. with the finals being held at 7 p.m. All Tiger fans are invited and urged to attend.

Need Awareness To Recognize Life

By DEBBIE RADABAUGH

"Only that day dawns to which we are awake," stated Henry David Thoreau.

The world is full of good things, but how often is it that we notice these good things? People are constantly hustling and bustling about, too busy to take a moment to really look at life, or not really caring.

There is more to life than making a buck, or getting ahead at the office, or worrying about which party to attend this weekend. There is more to life than jealousy, envy and greed.

There is more to life than life itself. It goes beyond living, beyond existing, beyond surviving. There is love, there is happiness, there is caring. Look around you. Someone needs to be loved, to be cared for.

But some happiness in someone's life; in your life. "All that we love deeply becomes a part of us," and a part of us is a part of life.

On Books And Activities At The Library

"Step-by-Step Rugmaking" by Nell Znamierowski offers a variety of rug techniques such as embroidery, latch hook, crochet, knitting, braiding, hooking, and weaving. Some of these techniques are quite simple, use inexpensive materials, and tools, yet produced a finished product that is beautiful as well as useful. In addition to the techniques, the author discusses the sources of design inspiration, materials, tools, finishing, and care and cleaning of handmade rugs. A bibliography for further reading is included, as well as a list of suppliers, and a partial list of schools and workshops that offer courses in rugmaking.

Books for hobbyists are very popular. Often it is difficult for the craftsman or hobbyist to find exactly what he is looking for. Do not overlook magazines. In many instances, magazines provide more up to the minute information than books. Stereo and record fans can find news about music and musicians, equipment reports, record reviews, and a special section on tape recording in the March 1973 "High Fidelity" magazine. "Popular Electronics" and Radio-Electronics" both have information about speaker systems, solida state, tapes, recording, TV troubleshooting, etc. The emphasis in this month's "Popular Mechanics" is on motor camping - new models, new conveniences. "Popular Photography" addresses itself to the camera bug.

Those who enjoy the outdoors and sports may choose "Guns & Ammo," "Field and Stream," "Outdoor Life," "Sports Illustrated," "Western Horseman", "Hot Rod", "Car & Driver", "Cycle", "Flying", or "Aviation Week & Space Technology." Other magazines geared to the hobbyist with special interests include "Art News", "Design", and "Dramatics", an educational magazine for directors, teachers and students of theater arts. Except for the current issue, magazines may be checked out for seven days. Specific articles on a subject may be located through use of "The Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature." If you need help in locating an article, ask one of the librarians.

Newspapers too are a valuable source of information. The library receives the two Columbus Daily newspapers, the Circleville Herald, the Williamsport News, the National Observer, and the Wall Street Journal - and don't overlook the national weekly news magazines. We are open from nine to nine Monday through Thursday, and nine to five on Fridays and Saturdays, so drop in to browse a little, or read a lot.

Mystery and suspense fans will be interested in Earle Stanley Gardner's "The Case of the Postponed Murder." Perry Mason stars in this suspenseful mystery where forgery leads to murder. Red herrings and courtroom tactics set the scene for this last of the Perry Mason mysteries. In the "95 File" by James E. Martin, a clever thief seems to know police methods and continues to get away successfully - until he murders a cop in the process.

Jack Fenner, a Boston private eye, is hired to find a body guard for an heiress in "Silent Witness" by George Harmon Cox. In his search, he finds two crowses, a family feud, and a touch of organized crime.

In June Goodfield's "Courier to Peking," Andrew Tanyard uses his scientific knowledge in determining how the U.S. Government has conned him into smuggling a secret message to the Peking government. Young Lena Doyle intends to bring in an oil well alone if need be - or with the help of her long absent father, suddenly returned in "Oklahoma Crude" by Marc Norman. "Wise Guy, Solomon" collects recent writings by Israeli humorist, Ephraim Kishon, including his off Broadway play writing venture.

Hospital Workers Strike Against Controls In Britain

LONDON (AP) - More than 200,000 hospital workers today joined the British unions' attempt to kill Prime Minister Edward Heath's wage controls by a series of strikes and slowdowns.

Gas industry workers continued their two-week-old slowdown, school teachers were in the last day of a three-day strike, militants at three big Ford plants were beginning a one-to-three-day walkout, and civil servants were planning more stoppages.

At least 750,000 workers were involved. Some political commentators speculated the strike wave might force Heath to call a national election.

Heath's anti-inflation bill to hold down prices and wages won a 79-vote majority on its third and final reading in the House of Commons Wednesday night. It was expected to pass three more readings in the House of Lords quickly and to become law around March 20.

The popularity of Heath's policies was also being tested in three special elections today in England and Scotland to fill vacancies in Commons.

Most of Britain's 2,250 hospitals were hit by strikes or slowdowns by auxiliary staff workers - porters, cleaners, laundrywomen and cooks. They were scheduled to last from three days to "indefinitely." However, the strikers pledged to maintain such essential services as casualty wards, intensive care units, sterilization and drug departments.

If last week's basketball game between Circleville and Logan Elm was the start of a rivalry, then all we can say is give us more rivalries like this.

Both teams proved that they came to play and the fans were treated to some of the best basketball seen in the area this year. Credit must be given to the players and both coaches, John Lawhorn of Circleville and Dave Little of Logan Elm. Not only did the squads show artistic ability with the roundball but did it in a manner that was a pleasure to watch. It was a clean ball game and was conducted in a way that drew nothing but praise for both schools.

But what about those great fans who were in attendance? It was one of the most exuberant crowds we've seen. But the back and forth bantering was carried on in a friendly manner and added a little extra to the contest. We arrived early and were treated to the good natured cheering, on both sides, that furnished the pre-game entertainment.

When we returned for the game on Saturday afternoon we had a chance to talk with Bill Alspach who was the tournament director at Groveport.

"With the talk of a rivalry between the two schools taking shape in a tournament game, we didn't quite know what to expect," Alspach commented. "We've had these type games where both players and fans got out of hand. But I must say that what went on here last night was a pleasure to watch. I am going to write to both schools complimenting them on their behavior," Alspach said.

It really makes one proud to hear things like this and once again we say that it just goes to show that Pickaway County has the greatest kids in the world, both young and old.

Of course a "sweet and loveable" sportswriter, who shall remain nameless due to his modest disposition, was greeted with a shower of boooooos, vocal not liquid, for his "fearless" prediction of the outcome of the contest. We won't name the vocal chorus but we are very careful when we go down Route 56.

However, after we arrived home and stopped crying, we'd like them to know that we took every one of them out of our will.

Our "fearless" forecast — Well, here we go again. The Lions were tough to beat in the Roman Coliseum and the Tigers will be just as tough in the Columbus Coliseum.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

"Sure we'd love to play UCLA," Jacksonville Coach Tom Wasdin, echoing the sentiments of all nine coaches whose teams got at-large bids for the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball playoffs. "It would mean we'd be in the NCAA final."

Major college basketball's playoffs began to take shape Thursday as Jacksonville and eight other schools were tapped by the NCAA.

Eight of the teams are in The Associated Press Top Twenty and only Southwestern Louisiana is a member of a conference—the Southland, which doesn't automatically get a bid to the playoffs, known as the UCLA Invitational in some circles.

The UCLA Bruins have won the tournament six straight times, and seven out of the last eight years, and are heavily favored again this year. UCLA, however, hasn't wrapped up the Pacific-8 championship but that's considered a mere formality.

90 Major League Baseball Players Remain Unsigned

leaguers remained unsigned, although some like Rusty Staub of the New York Mets and Tom Bradley of the San Francisco Giants reportedly had agreed to terms and were heading for camp. Of the nonsigners, 59 are in the American League, led—if that's the proper word—by the Minnesota Twins with 10, the Kansas City Royals with nine, the Chicago White Sox with eight and the New York Yankees and world champion Oakland A's with seven apiece.

Why so many?

"First of all," said Lee MacPhail, general manager of the Yankees, "the player negotiations delayed signing players a little bit and, second, the players all have agents now."

However, some decided to stop playing hard to get and start playing baseball. The Baltimore Orioles signed third base ace Brooks Robinson for a reported $105,000, down $5,000 from 1972. And Minnesota outfielder Tony Oliva, who underwent knee surgery after a virtually useless season, had his paycheck cut, too—from $105,000 to an estimated $96,000.

nounced his retirement as coach of the Owls, who are seeking their fourth MAC title. Temple is favored against Lafayette in the first game of a doubleheader while St. Joseph's, Pa., meets Gettysburg in the second game.

The Western Athletic Conference basketball race winds up this weekend with one of the wildest finishes ever. Four teams are still eligible for the title—New Mexico, Brigham Young, Arizona State and Arizona.

Only one ranked team was in action Thursday night as No. 4 Long Beach State beat Fresno State 72-62.

Elsewhere, Oklahoma City routed Georgia State 97-72; Louisville stopped Tulsa 69-62; St. Louis University hammered Bradley 85-71; Manhattan smashed West Virginia 77-63; Seton Hall whipped St. Peter's of New Jersey 95-76; Marshall dumped Samford 77-65; Colgate crushed Fairleigh Dickinson 73-54; San Francisco crushed Los Angeles-Loyola 104-77 and Sam Houston State, the nation's No. 1 college division team, won its 26th straight this year by defeating St. Mary's (Tex.) 68-65 in a first-round game of the NAIA playoffs.

Southern Conference Cagers Play

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Davidson's top-seeded Wildcats meet William and Mary's young but talented Indians and Furman's second-seeded Paladins take on East Carolina's third-ranked defending champion Pirates in tonight's Southern Conference basketball tournament semifinals.

Many observers could have predicted those winners in advance of the tournament's opening round Thursday—but they'd never have figured the four games would end as they did.

Davidson beat last-place Virginia Military 88-77, but only after the Keydets—trailing 46-33 at the half—stayed within seven or eight points and once got to within six after intermission. VMI's upset hopes went down the drain with a tourney-record 38 turnovers.

The Paladins, making a number of offensive mistakes in the first half, led Appalachian State by only 32-26 at intermission before blowing the Mountaineers off the court in a 101-68 rout.

Richmond, with league scoring and rebounding leader Aron Stewart in the lineup, was a darkhorse candidate to knock off East Carolina. But the Spiders shot 21.2 per cent the first half, fell 18 points behind and never were in contention as East Carolina breezed to a 96-62 victory.

The Middle Atlantic Conference University Division playoffs begin Friday night with Temple hoping to give Coach Harry Litwack a going-away present.

Don Gullett Seeks Comeback As Reds Open Training

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — At the age of 22, Cincinnati Reds lefthander Don Gullett is doggedly heading down the comeback trail.

A winner of 16 games against six losses in 1971, a season when Cincinnati slipped from champions to fourth place finishers in the National League's Western Division, Gullett contracted hepatitis last spring and struggled to a 9-10 record.

His earned run average jumped from 2.65 in 1971 to 3.93.

"I feel good and I'm eager to get going," said the hardthrowing southpaw from Lynn, Ky. "I've got something to prove."

What Gullett has to prove is that he's totally recovered from the effects of hepatitis and that he can recapture the form he displayed in 1970 and 1971, he said.

"I want to get back to where I was before," he said. He fully believes he can do it.

Gullett reported at 185 pounds, his ideal weight, having taken it easy all winter. All his medical tests have come up negative.

Last year he was instructed to report at 185, but came in at 178 and quickly dropped to 174. Weak, but still not feeling any ill effects, Gullett went through all of spring training without the illness being discovered.

"He never looked right last spring. He had definite signs that he was sick, but I just thought it was because he lost weight. I wasn't too smart. I don't know what I was thinking," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson.

Still, Gullett was masterful his last time out last spring stopping Kansas City with three hits in seven innings.

Then came baseball's first strike and 13 days of inactivity.

When the season finally started, Gullett couldn't get anyone out. After four starts he was 0-2 and had given up 19 runs in 15 innings.

The Reds decided to send Gullett to a hospital for tests and the hepatitis was discovered. It took him most of the rest of the year to regain his strength.

"It was a nightmare," recalled Gullett. "I'd throw what I thought was a good fast ball and they'd just jump on it."

Gullett started coming along after the All Star break and was 6-5 the rest of the way with a 2.56 earned run average.

"I feel he'll be like he was in 1970," predicted Anderson. "If he's healthy, he'll win 15 or more games."

Clay Carroll Raring To Go With New, Bountiful Pact

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Clay Carroll figures records are made to be broken, and that's why he's unwilling to sit back and rest on the mark he set last season for the Cincinnati Reds.

The strong-armed righthanded reliever helped Cincinnati to a National League pennant by recording 37 saves, breaking the major league record of 35 set in 1970 by Wayne Granger, ironically Carroll's roommate at the time.

"Someone will come along and break it. Maybe it will be me," grinned Carroll as he and 29 other Reds went through their first workout of the spring Thursday.

Just having Carroll in camp on the first day of spring training was a major accomplishment for Reds General Manager Bob Howsam. Carroll had been a holdout each of the last two springs.

This time, however, he was handsomely rewarded for his record-setting performance.

proudly announced, admitting to a raise of $18,500 and a contract calling for $67,000.

That salary makes Carroll either first or second in pay among National League relief pitchers. Tug McGraw of the New York Mets recently signed a contract estimated at $70,000.

"I kinda' think he got $65,000," Carroll said wishfully.

Carroll was just one member of an outstanding bullpen thrown together by the Reds last year, including lefthander Tom Hall, who posted a 10-1 record, and righthander Pedro Borbon, 8-3.

"I think having Hall helped Carroll," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. "It pushed him."

Anderson admitted he's hopeful his bullpen isn't as important this year as last.

"I'd like to get 75 wins from my five starters this season," he said. "Last year as far as putting wins on the board, the starters were pitiful."

If last week's basketball game between Circleville and Logan Elm was the start of a rivalry, then all we can say is give us more rivalries like this.

Both teams proved that they came to play and the fans were treated to some of the best basketball seen in the area this year. Credit must be given to the players and both coaches, John Lawhorn of Circleville and Dave Little of Logan Elm. Not only did the squads show artistic ability with the roundball but did it in a manner that was a pleasure to watch. It was a clean ball game and was conducted in a way that drew nothing but praise for both schools.

But what about those great fans who were in attendance? It was one of the most exuberant crowds we've seen. But the back and forth bantering was carried on in a friendly manner and added a little extra to the contest. We arrived early and were treated to the good natured cheering, on both sides, that furnished the pre-game entertainment.

When we returned for the game on Saturday afternoon we had a chance to talk with Bill Alspach who was the tournament director at Groveport.

"With the talk of a rivalry between the two schools taking shape in a tournament game, we didn't quite know what to expect," Alspach commented. "We've had these type games where both players and fans got out of hand. But I must say that what went on here last night was a pleasure to watch. I am going to write to both schools complimenting them on their behavior," Alspach said.

It really makes one proud to hear things like this and once again we say that it just goes to show that Pickaway County has the greatest kids in the world, both young and old.

Of course a "sweet and loveable" sportswriter, who shall remain nameless due to his modest disposition, was greeted with a shower of boooooos, vocal not liquid, for his "fearless" prediction of the outcome of the contest. We won't name the vocal chorus but we are very careful when we go down Route 56.

However, after we arrived home and stopped crying, we'd like them to know that we took every one of them out of our will.

Our "fearless" forecast — Well, here we go again. The Lions were tough to beat in the Roman Coliseum and the Tigers will be just as tough in the Columbus Coliseum.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

NCAA Cage Tourney Takes Shape

CY YOUNG AWARD WINNERS TOGETHER — Jim Londborg, left, acquired last year by the Philadelphia Phillies as a second starter behind Steve Carlton, right, last year's 27-game winner, laces new shoes as the two relax after first workout. Londborg, who came from the Milwaukee Brewers, won the Cy Young award as best pitcher in 1967, and Carlton won it in 1972. Pair is shown at Clearwater, Fla.

"Sure we'd love to play UCLA," Jacksonville Coach Tom Wasdin, echoing the sentiments of all nine coaches whose teams got at-large bids for the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball playoffs. "It would mean we'd be in the NCAA final."

Major college basketball's playoffs began to take shape Thursday as Jacksonville and eight other schools were tapped by the NCAA.

Eight of the teams are in The Associated Press Top Twenty and only Southwestern Louisiana is a member of a conference—the Southland, which doesn't automatically get a bid to the playoffs, known as the UCLA Invitational in some circles.

The UCLA Bruins have won the tournament six straight times, and seven out of the last eight years, and are heavily favored again this year. UCLA, however, hasn't wrapped up the Pacific-8 championship but that's considered a mere formality.

14 The Circleville Herald,
Friday March 2, 1973

The other ranked teams joining No. 18 Jacksonville and No. 11 Southwestern Louisiana were No. 5 Marquette, No. 8 Houston, No. 6 Providence, No. 17 St. John's of New York, No. 19 South Carolina and No. 14 Syracuse.

Unranked Oklahoma City rounded out the at-large teams.

Syracuse, St. John's and Providence were assigned to the Eastern Regionals opening round. Marquette and Jacksonville went to the Mideast with South Carolina selected for the Midwest with Southwestern Louisiana and Houston. Oklahoma City will play in the West.

Coach Al McGuire of Marquette said it didn't matter to him which team the Warriors faced. "Once the tournament comes, the only thing to worry about is injuries. You just shoot the works."

Marquette has never gotten out of the Mideast Regionals.

Officials at Southwestern Louisiana said the invitation was especially meaningful in view of pressures caused by 125 alleged charges of NCAA recruiting violations. USL is currently embroiled in a court fight over answering charges that it offered to pay players and committed other recruiting violations.

For veteran Coach Frank McGuire of South Carolina, it "was like getting a bowl invitation in college football."

The National Invitation Tournament, held at Madison Square Garden in New York, tabbed Notre Dame, Virginia Tech and American University on Thursday. The remainder of the 16-team field will be announced next week.

LWBA Names New Officers

The slate of officers for the Lancaster Women's Bowling Association 1973-74 season was elected at a recent meeting in Lancaster.

Named to the officials posts were: Fritzie Poling, president; Alice Snider, vice president; Carolyn Awalt, secretary; Marianne Richardson, treasurer; Norene Peck, sgt. at arms.

Directors are: Mildred Pickering, Tillie Smith, Veldren Smith, Marge Mumford, Sue Griffin, Ruth Lowe, Judy Murphy, Carole Batina, Joanie Nelson, Marty Dresbach, Pat Burgoon, Eileen Cunningham, Opal Koon, Diane McConkey, Helen Poling and Virginia Karshner.

The Trio Tournament will be held May 6 at the Circle D Lanes in Circleville. Deadline for entries is April 7. Entry forms may be obtained at all bowling establishments.

White Line Appears At Riverfront Stadium

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The white line that marked the outer edge of the infield on the AstroTurf at Riverfront Stadium will reappear this season.

Richard Wagner, assistant to General Manager Bob Howsam, said the National League had ordered the line put down again.

Southern Conference Cagers Play

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Davidson's top-seeded Wildcats meet William and Mary's young but talented Indians and Furman's second-seeded Paladins take on East Carolina's third-ranked defending champion Pirates in tonight's Southern Conference basketball tournament semifinals.

Many observers could have predicted those winners in advance of the tournament's opening round Thursday—but they'd never have figured the four games would end as they did.

Davidson beat last-place Virginia Military 88-77, but only after the Keydets—trailing 46-33 at the half—stayed within seven or eight points and once got to within six after intermission. VMI's upset hopes went down the drain with a tourney-record 38 turnovers.

The Paladins, making a number of offensive mistakes in the first half, led Appalachian State by only 32-26 at intermission before blowing the Mountaineers off the court in a 101-68 rout.

Richmond, with league scoring and rebounding leader Aron Stewart in the lineup, was a darkhorse candidate to knock off East Carolina. But the Spiders shot 21.2 per cent the first half, fell 18 points behind and never were in contention as East Carolina breezed to a 96-62 victory.

The Middle Atlantic Conference University Division playoffs begin Friday night with Temple hoping to give Coach Harry Litwack a going-away present.

The venerable Litwack has anounced his retirement as coach of the Owls, who are seeking their fourth MAC title. Temple is favored against Lafayette in the first game of a doubleheader while St. Joseph's, Pa., meets Gettysburg in the second game.

The Western Athletic Conference basketball race winds up this weekend with one of the wildest finishes ever. Four teams are still eligible for the title—New Mexico, Brigham Young, Arizona State and Arizona.

Only one ranked team was in action Thursday night as No. 4 Long Beach State beat Fresno State 72-62.

Elsewhere, Oklahoma City routed Georgia State 97-72; Louisville stopped Tulsa 69-62; St. Louis University hammered Bradley 85-71; Manhattan smashed West Virginia 77-63; Seton Hall whipped St. Peter's of New Jersey 95-76; Marshall dumped Samford 77-65; Colgate crushed Fairleigh Dickinson 73-54; San Francisco crushed Los Angeles-Loyola 104-77 and Sam Houston State, the nation's No. 1 college division team, won its 26th straight this year by defeating St. Mary's (Tex.) 68-65 in a first-round game of the NAIA playoffs.

leaguers remained unsigned, although some like Rusty Staub of the New York Mets and Tom Bradley of the San Francisco Giants reportedly had agreed to terms and were heading for camp. Of the nonsigners, 59 are in the American League, led—if that's the proper word—by the Minnesota Twins with 10, the Kansas City Royals with nine, the Chicago White Sox with eight and the New York Yankees and world champion Oakland A's with seven apiece.

Why so many? "First of all," said Lee MacPhail, general manager of the Yankees, "the player negotiations delayed signing players a little bit and, second, the players all have agents now."

However, some decided to stop playing hard to get and start playing baseball. The Baltimore Orioles signed third base ace Brooks Robinson for a reported $105,000, down $5,000 from 1972. And Minnesota outfielder Tony Oliva, who underwent knee surgery after a virtually useless season, had his paycheck cut, too—from $105,000 to an estimated $96,000.

Don Gullett Seeks Comeback As Reds Open Training

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — At the age of 22, Cincinnati Reds lefthander Don Gullett is doggedly heading down the comeback trail.

A winner of 16 games against six losses in 1971, a season when Cincinnati slipped from champions to fourth place finishers in the National League's Western Division, Gullett contracted hepatitis last spring and struggled to a 9-10 record.

His earned run average jumped from 2.65 in 1971 to 3.93.

"I feel good and I'm eager to get going," said the hardthrowing southpaw from Lynn, Ky. "I've got something to prove."

What Gullett has to prove is that he's totally recovered from the effects of hepatitis and that he can recapture the form he displayed in 1970 and 1971, he said.

"I want to get back to where I was before," he said. He fully believes he can do it.

Gullett reported at 185 pounds, his ideal weight, having taken it easy all winter. All his medical tests have come up negative.

Last year he was instructed to report at 185, but came in at 178 and quickly dropped to 174. Weak, but still not feeling any ill effects, Gullett went through all of spring training without the illness being discovered.

"He never looked right last spring. He had definite signs that he was sick, but I just thought it was because he lost weight. I wasn't too smart. I don't know what I was thinking," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson.

Still, Gullett was masterful his last time out last spring stopping Kansas City with three hits in seven innings.

Then came baseball's first strike and 13 days of inactivity.

When the season finally started, Gullett couldn't get anyone out. After four starts he was 0-2 and had given up 19 runs in 15 innings.

The Reds decided to send Gullett to a hospital for tests and the hepatitis was discovered. It took him most of the rest of the year to regain his strength.

"It was a nightmare," recalled Gullett. "I'd throw what I thought was a good fast ball and they'd just jump on it."

Gullett started coming along after the All Star break and was 6-5 the rest of the way with a 2.56 earned run average.

"I feel he'll be like he was in 1970," predicted Anderson. "If he's healthy, he'll win 15 or more games."

Clay Carroll Raring To Go With New, Bountiful Pact

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Clay Carroll figures records are made to be broken, and that's why he's unwilling to sit back and rest on the mark he set last season for the Cincinnati Reds.

The strong-armed righthanded reliever helped Cincinnati to a National League pennant by recording 37 saves, breaking the major league record of 35 set in 1970 by Wayne Granger, ironically Carroll's roommate at the time.

"Someone will come along and break it. Maybe it will be me," grinned Carroll as he and 29 other Reds went through their first workout of the spring Thursday.

Just having Carroll in camp on the first day of spring training was a major accomplishment for Reds General Manager Bob Howsam. Carroll had been a holdout each of the last two springs.

This time, however, he was handsomely rewarded for his record-setting performance.

proudly announced, admitting to a raise of $18,500 and a contract calling for $67,000.

That salary makes Carroll either first or second in pay among National League relief pitchers. Tug McGraw of the New York Mets recently signed a contract estimated at $70,000.

"I kinda think he got $65,000," Carroll said wishfully.

Carroll was just one member of an outstanding bullpen thrown together by the Reds last year, including lefthander Tom Hall, who posted a 10-1 record, and righthander Pedro Borbon, 8-3.

"I think having Hall helped Carroll," said Reds Manager Sparky Anderson. "It pushed him."

Anderson admitted he's hopeful his bullpen isn't as important this year as last.

"I'd like to get 75 wins from my five starters this season," he said. "Last year as far as putting wins on the board, the starters were pitiful."

3rd Base, Pitching Hot Spots For Cleveland

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP) — The Cleveland Indians' hopes of improving their standing in the American League East this season could depend to a large degree on the performances of a young third baseman and a veteran pitcher.

They will have to do it without veteran third baseman Graig Nettles, who led the Tribe in practically all offensive categories the last two seasons. Nettles went to the New York Yankees in an offseason trade.

The Indians got off to an impressive start last season but finished in fifth place, 14 games behind division-winner Detroit, with a 72-84 record after winding up in sixth place in 1971.

How well Buddy Bell performs at third base in his sophomore year in the majors could be a factor in the kind of season the Indians have this year. He is the son of Gus Bell, former star outfielder in the National League.

Another factor could be whether veteran pitcher Gaylord Perry can maintain the torrid pace he set last year when he won the Cy Young award as the best hurler in the American League.

Perry had a 24-16 mark and posted a 1.92 earned run average in his first year in the league after several years with the San Francisco Giants in the National League.

Bell is no stranger at third base, where he performed in the minors. However, he spent his rookie season in the Indian outfield except for a few games at third.

Tribe officials are counting on him to make the Cleveland fans forget Nettles, and the likeable youngster is confident he can do a good job at third.

Perry, a 34-year-old righthander, scoffs at the possibility that he will be jinxed this year by winning the Cy Young award. The balding veteran, who is unruffled by claims of some opposing managers that he throws a grease ball, says there is no reason why he cannot have another outstanding season.

Dick Tidrow, Milt Wilcox and Steve Dunning are expected to join Perry in the starting rotation. They also are right-handers.

Tidrow had a 14-15 mark in his rookie season last year. His 2.78 earned run average was second only to Perry's among the Tribe starters.

Wilcox, who came to Cleveland from the Cincinnati Reds, won seven games while losing 14 last year and Dunning had a 6-4 mark after spending part of the season in the minors.

The new league rule permitting a pinch-hitter for the pitcher without his having to leave the game should help the Indians, a team not known for its hitting pitchers.

The Indians obtained outfielders Charlie Spikes and Rusty Torres, catcher John Ellis and infielder Jerry Kenney in the Nettles trade.

Spikes is a power hitter, and Manager Ken Aspromonte is hopeful

Bucks Whip N.Y. Knicks

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jerry Lucas' long range bombs backfired Thursday night, helping the Milwaukee Bucks to shoot full of holes the theory that they choke at the sight of New York Knicks' uniforms.

With Lucas shooting unusually cold from outside, the Bucks' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was able to concentrate on offense. He responded with 36 points as Milwaukee opened a 21-point lead and held off a New York rally for a 114-

100 National Basketball Association victory.

It was only the Bucks' eighth victory in 31 games with New York over their five year history, but it squared the season series at 2-2 and, more important, increased their Midwest Division lead over Chicago to 3 games. The Knicks slipped 3½ games behind first place Boston in the Atlantic Division.

In the only two American Basketball Association games, crippled Utah turned back Dallas 119-112 and Fatty Taylor's baseline jumper at the buzzer gave Virginia a 125-124 triumph over San Diego.

Miami Seeks Final Victory In MAC Loop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Mid-American Conference basketball chase is over, but Darrell Hedric still sees incentives for his champion Miami of Ohio squad.

"We are still playing for the best record possible and pride," Hedric said of a season-closing conference date with visiting Western Michigan Saturday night.

The Redskins locked up the league title last week by winning at Kent State for an 8-2 mark and will compete in the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament first round Saturday, March 10, at Dayton, Ohio.

The rest of the MAC teams end their 1972-73 campaigns Saturday with Ohio University at Kent and Akron at Central Michigan in the afternoon and Toledo at Bowling Green at night.

If Bowling Green wins, the Falcons will finish second with an 8-4 mark.

Should the Falcons lose and Ohio University triumph, the Bobcats will claim the No. 2 spot with a 7-4 record. Losses by both Ohio and Bowling Green would give Toledo a second place tie with Bowling Green at 7-5.

A 4-1 league road record was a big reason for Miami winning its third MAC crown in the last five seasons, Hedric maintained.

Dick Tidrow, Milt Wilcox and Steve Dunning are expected to join Perry in the starting rotation. They also are right-handers.

Tidrow had a 14-15 mark in his rookie season last year. His 2.78 earned run average was second only to Perry's among the Tribe starters.

Wilcox, who came to Cleveland from the Cincinnati Reds, won seven games while losing 14 last year and Dunning had a 6-4 mark after spending part of the season in the minors.

The new league rule permitting a pinch-hitter for the pitcher without his having to leave the game should help the Indians, a team not known for its hitting pitchers.

The Indians obtained outfielders Charlie Spikes and Rusty Torres, catcher John Ellis and infielder Jerry Kenney in the Nettles trade.

Spikes is a power hitter, and Manager Ken Aspromonte is hopeful

Bucks Whip N.Y. Knicks

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Jerry Lucas' long range bombs backfired Thursday night, helping the Milwaukee Bucks to shoot full of holes the theory that they choke at the sight of New York Knicks' uniforms.

With Lucas shooting unusually cold from outside, the Bucks' Kareem Abdul-Jabbar was able to concentrate on offense. He responded with 36 points as Milwaukee opened a 21-point lead and held off a New York rally for a 114-

100 National Basketball Association victory.

It was only the Bucks' eighth victory in 31 games with New York over their five year history, but it squared the season series at 2-2 and, more important, increased their Midwest Division lead over Chicago to 3 games. The Knicks slipped 3½ games behind first place Boston in the Atlantic Division.

In the only two American Basketball Association games, crippled Utah turned back Dallas 119-112 and Fatty Taylor's baseline jumper at the buzzer gave Virginia a 125-124 triumph over San Diego.

Miami Seeks Final Victory In MAC Loop

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Mid-American Conference basketball chase is over, but Darrell Hedric still sees incentives for his champion Miami of Ohio squad.

"We are still playing for the best record possible and pride," Hedric said of a season-closing conference date with visiting Western Michigan Saturday night.

The Redskins locked up the league title last week by winning at Kent State for an 8-2 mark and will compete in the NCAA Midwest Regional Tournament first round Saturday, March 10, at Dayton, Ohio.

The rest of the MAC teams end their 1972-73 campaigns Saturday with Ohio University at Kent and Akron at Central Michigan in the afternoon and Toledo at Bowling Green at night.

If Bowling Green wins, the Falcons will finish second with an 8-4 mark.

Should the Falcons lose and Ohio University triumph, the Bobcats will claim the No. 2 spot with a 7-4 record. Losses by both Ohio and Bowling Green would give Toledo a second place tie with Bowling Green at 7-5.

A 4-1 league road record was a big reason for Miami winning its third MAC crown in the last five seasons, Hedric maintained.

CARROLL RICHTER'S Horoscope

from the Carroll Richter Institute
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day and evening to do your best to please those contacts with whom you have a friendly or casual relationship but who need cultivating for a closer relationship and a more important place in your life.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A day to do whatever you can to please good friends and recent acquaintances and deepen relationships. Attend some small, select gathering. Much good for the future can come of this.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get your work activities well organized to please higher-ups. Showing more interest in the community in which you reside will bring you added acclaim. Use logic instead of relying so much on emotion.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) That plan you have had in mind for some time requires fuel for thought and further study to round out properly. Write or wire an out-of-towner who can be helpful in this. Do not waste time with gossips.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be certain that you carry through conscientiously with promises made to others. Get your house in order. Some special thought for mate brings you more devotion.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) If you carry through with contacts you have with associates, you make this a most productive day, p.m. Try not to antagonize further one who opposes you or you get into deep trouble. Avoid one who bickers.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You have many tasks awaiting your attention, but be sure to use more modern methods so they are quickly completed. Show more courtesy toward fellow workers and get better results. Take it easy in p.m.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) This can be a most happy day and p.m. at the recreations you like, plus some new expression of your talents. Rid yourself of small stumbling blocks in the path of your happiness. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Place your attention on home and family today and forget gadding about with fast friends who could get you into some kind of trouble. Clear up any questionable points that spoil the harmony in that important realm of your existence.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Once you get your shopping and errands done, go out with congenials and have a delightful time. You may get unexpected and excellent results from a fascinating person you meet today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Take the time to analyze your financial position and to discuss with key people how to improve your position in the future, add to assets. You have a good idea to put in operation even though you have to make a few changes first.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make sure you spend some time getting yourself and home toned up nicely so you feel happy and can impress others favorably today. Repay some social debt long overdue.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Plan how to get ahead faster in the days to come and seek the advice of one who is an expert in your field of endeavor. Try to find more happiness with mate. Show you are thoughtful and kind.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those delightful young people who likes to help others gain their aims because there is a love of people here. Should be permitted to have many playmates around early in life, as a testing ground for the valuable work your youngster can do upon reaching adulthood that will mean dealing with many persons, with the public in general, and in vocations that have to do with the humanities. Teach how to handle the emotional side of life early.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Bid To Split Highway Fund Beaten Off By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate highway trust-busters have lost a preliminary fight, but look with confidence toward the next try at beating the highway lobby out of some money for mass transit.

The Senate Public Works Committee voted 8 to 6 Thursday against diverting $850 million from the trust fund each year for urban areas to use as they see fit.

The committee then voted to report the entire $5.8 billion annual federal road-aid package for full Senate floor action.

In each of the next three years, the bulk of the money, some $3.25 billion, is earmarked for interstate highway construction, the original intent in creating the fund.

Making the losing move for wider use of the money Thursday were Sens. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and Edmund Muskie, D-Maine. But they look ahead to full Senate consideration of the bill. "It will pass before the full Senate," said Baker of the wider-use amendment.

The interstate system was the original aim of the fund in 1956, but critics say it is time to use some of the money collected from users fees and gas taxes to ease urban congestion. Such diversion, however, has been opposed steadfastly by such groups as the American Asphalt Institute, the American Road Builders Association, the Associated General Contractors, and some oil companies.

Spokesman for these groups and some senators say they do not oppose mass transit, but feel it should be aided some other way, perhaps with its own trust fund.

Gray Winning Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman James O. Eastland of the Senate Judiciary Committee says nothing in the panel's hearings has caused him any concern about L. Patrick Gray's nomination to be FBI director.

"I'm 100 per cent for him," Eastland said Thursday. "He's a big man, an honest man, and a man who is not politically oriented."

Eastland said he has no doubt that Gray, who has been acting director of the FBI since J. Edgar Hoover's death last May, will be confirmed easily by the Senate.

Gray underwent about 10 hours of questioning Wednesday and Thursday before the hearings were recessed until next Tuesday. Whether he will return for further testimony was not announced.

Outside witnesses, most of whom indicate they oppose Gray's nomination, may be heard.

Near the conclusion of Thursday's session, two of the committee's liberal Democrats commended the 56-year-old Gray, a former Navy submarine commander, for his testimony.

"I have no reason to doubt your integrity," said Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif. "You have handled yourself as someone speaking the truth."

And Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., told Gray: "I'm convinced you've given us a straight story as you see it."

Gray said that, if nothing else, he had learned from the hearings that in the future, "Gray has got to be a whole lot more careful about his speech-making."

Dollar Disaster Closes Markets Across Europe

LONDON (AP) — Foreign exchange dealings around the world were halted today after the dollar took a new nose dive. The governments hoped a long weekend would cool off the selling wave.

Government ministers and economic leaders met to discuss how to cope with the widespread dumping of U.S. currency.

Prime Minister Edward Heath of Britain and Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany were meeting in Bonn, but spokesmen said they would not decide any new monetary moves before conferring with other members of the Common Market.

Such an assessment could be part of multi-national efforts to achieve a solution to the dollar crisis, observers said.

Von Wechmar noted that the Common Market Ministerial Council will hold a previously scheduled meeting in Brussels Monday.

This indicated the meeting might discuss a joint Common Market float or other steps.

Von Wechmar said Bonn was in constant contact with the United States and the Common Market partners.

West Germany, which has borne the brunt of the speculation, took the lead in closing its foreign exchange. It was the second time in a month it closed the Frankfurt market to halt the flood of U.S. currency pouring into the country.

Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands and some other European nations followed suit. So did Japan, Hong Kong, New Zealand and Pakistan.

Governors End Meeting; Still Split On Tax Sharing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's governors have ended their midwinter meeting, still as split over President Nixon's master plan for revamping many domestic programs as when the conference began.

Citing uncertainty over Nixon's proposals and fearing further money cuts, Democratic governors voted unanimously Thursday to oppose the special revenue-sharing plan "unless and until we get the information we need in order to govern our states." But Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, predicted the Democrats eventually will support Nixon's plan, which congressional leaders say is in trouble.

The Democrats said they were "emphatically dissatisfied" with what administration officials had told them about cuts in the current budget and plans for special revenue sharing.

Asked if their action might harm congressional chances for Nixon's proposals, Gov. John J. Gilligan of Ohio, the Democratic spokesman, conceded "it might have some influence with the Congress."

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, a Democrat and chairman of the National Governors Conference, said most Democrats support the theory of giving states greater control over their programs but don't have details on Nixon's plan.

The action by the Democrats, and a series of sharply critical statements during the only public conference session Thursday, shattered the unity that had marked efforts by the governors in recent years to get more federal aid through revenue sharing.

Some Democrats even talked of trying to repeal the general revenue-sharing program enacted last year, under which more than $5 billion annually is being handed back to state and local governments with virtually no federal strings on how it is spent.

Pilot Welfare Project Receives More Funds

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — A pilot welfare project in which male recipients are hired to perform minor repairs on the homes of the ill and aged will receive an extra $20,000 this year.

The announcement was made Thursday by the Butler County Welfare Department.

Deputies Investigate 4 Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated three automobile accidents Thursday.

At 4:30 p.m. Thursday, Carol A. Gruesser, 27, 1040 Georgia Road sustained lacerations and abrasions when her car struck a car operated by Jimmie Roger Hively, 32, 329 S. Washington St., in the rear. Mrs. Gruesser was southbound on County Road 511. Hively was stopped to make a turn. Deputy J. Phillip Brown cited Mrs. Gruesser for failure to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Sherry A. Mueller, 17, Route 2, lost control of her car on the Westfall-Kinderhook Road in Wayne Twp., going off the road into a field and then back on the road. She sustained a bump on the forehead.

At 7:30 p.m. Thursday Christina Speakman, 34, Route 1, was turning right onto the Circleville Tarlton Road from the Jefferson Road when her left door flew open. The open door was struck by a car driven by Richard Dale Wells, Chillicothe.

At 9 p.m. in Darby Twp. on Route 62, Ira Lee Swim, 23, could not avoid hitting a hog that ran on the road in front of his car. Swim sustained a slight

Man Dies In Kidnap Of Mayor

GALLUP, N.M. (AP) — Gallup Mayor Emmett Garcia says the two young Indians who handcuffed him and marched him from his office at gunpoint had posed as reporters. One of the abductors was found dead after an ensuing gun battle, and authorities said he died of a gunshot wound that apparently was self-inflicted.

Garcia, 35, who escaped Thursday by diving through a plate glass window, suffered a superficial gunshot wound in the side and facial lacerations.

The second abductor was being held today without bond.

State police identified the dead man as Larry Casuse, 20, of Mexican Springs on the Navajo Reservation that begins about 10 miles north of this community of 14,000.

Dist. Atty. Louis DePauli said Casuse died of a shotgun wound under the chin that "appears to have been self-inflicted."

Casuse, who was president of the Indian Kiva Club at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque, had opposed Garcia's recent appointment as a university regent. Casuse objected to the mayor's interest in a liquor store near the reservation, contending the store contributed to Indian alcoholism.

Bid To Split Highway Fund Beaten Off By Senate Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate highway trust-busters have lost a preliminary fight, but look with confidence toward the next try at beating the highway lobby out of some money for mass transit.

The Senate Public Works Committee voted 8 to 6 Thursday against diverting $850 million from the trust fund each year for urban areas to use as they see fit.

The committee then voted to report the entire $5.8 billion annual federal road-aid package for full Senate floor action.

In each of the next three years, the bulk of the money, some $3.25 billion, is earmarked for interstate highway construction, the original intent in creating the fund.

Making the losing move for wider use of the money Thursday were Sens. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., and Edmund Muskie, D-Maine. But they look ahead to full Senate consideration of the bill. "It will pass before the full Senate," said Baker of the wider-use amendment.

The interstate system was the original aim of the fund in 1956, but critics say it is time to use some of the money collected from users fees and gas taxes to ease urban congestion.

Such diversion, however, has been opposed steadfastly by such groups as the American Asphalt Institute, the American Road Builders Association, the Associated General Contractors, and some oil companies.

Spokesman for these groups and some senators say they do not oppose mass transit, but feel it should be aided some other way, perhaps with its own trust fund.

Gray Winning Confirmation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman James O. Eastland of the Senate Judiciary Committee says nothing in the panel's hearings has caused him any concern about L. Patrick Gray's nomination to be FBI director.

"I'm 100 per cent for him," Eastland said Thursday. "He's a big man, an honest man, and a man who is not politically oriented."

Eastland said he has no doubt that Gray, who has been acting director of the FBI since J. Edgar Hoover's death last May, will be confirmed easily by the Senate.

Gray underwent about 10 hours of questioning Wednesday and Thursday before the hearings were recessed until next Tuesday. Whether he will return for further testimony was not announced.

Outside witnesses, most of whom indicate they oppose Gray's nomination, may be heard.

Near the conclusion of Thursday's session, two of the committee's liberal Democrats commended the 56-year-old Gray, a former Navy submarine commander, for his testimony.

"I have no reason to doubt your integrity," said Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif. "You have handled yourself as someone speaking the truth."

And Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., told Gray: "I'm convinced you've given us a straight story as you see it."

Gray said that, if nothing else, he had learned from the hearings that in the future, "Gray has got to be a whole lot more careful about his speech-making."

Dollar Disaster Closes Markets Across Europe

LONDON (AP) — Foreign exchange dealings around the world were halted today after the dollar took a new nose dive. The governments hoped a long weekend would cool off the selling wave.

Government ministers and economic leaders met to discuss how to cope with the widespread dumping of U.S. currency.

Prime Minister Edward Heath of Britain and Chancellor Willy Brandt of West Germany were meeting in Bonn, but spokesmen said they would not decide any new monetary moves before conferring with other members of the Common Market.

Such an assessment could be part of multi-national efforts to achieve a solution to the dollar crisis, observers said.

Von Wechmar noted that the Common Market Ministerial Council will hold a previously scheduled meeting in Brussels Monday.

This indicated the meeting might discuss a joint Common Market float or other steps.

Von Wechmar said Bonn was in constant contact with the United States and the Common Market partners.

West Germany, which has borne the brunt of the speculation, took the lead in closing its foreign exchange. It was the second time in a month it closed the Frankfurt market to halt the flood of U.S. currency pouring into the country.

Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands and some other European nations followed suit. So did Japan, Hong Kong, New Zealand and Pakistan.

Governors End Meeting; Still Split On Tax Sharing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's governors have ended their midwinter meeting, still as split over President Nixon's master plan for revamping many domestic programs as when the conference began.

Citing uncertainty over Nixon's proposals and fearing further money cuts, Democratic governors voted unanimously Thursday to oppose the special revenue-sharing plan "unless and until we get the information we need in order to govern our states." But Gov. Linwood Holton of Virginia, chairman of the Republican Governors Association, predicted the Democrats eventually will support Nixon's plan, which congressional leaders say is in trouble.

The Democrats said they were "emphatically dissatisfied" with what administration officials had told them about cuts in the current budget and plans for special revenue sharing.

Asked if their action might harm congressional chances for Nixon's proposals, Gov. John J. Gilligan of Ohio, the Democratic spokesman, conceded "it might have some influence with the Congress."

Gov. Marvin Mandel of Maryland, a Democrat and chairman of the National Governors Conference, said most Democrats support the theory of giving states greater control over their programs but don't have details on Nixon's plan.

The action by the Democrats, and a series of sharply critical statements during the only public conference session Thursday, shattered the unity that had marked efforts by the governors in recent years to get more federal aid through revenue sharing.

Some Democrats even talked of trying to repeal the general revenue-sharing program enacted last year, under which more than $5 billion annually is being handed back to state and local governments with virtually no federal strings on how it is spent.
